Committee deadlocked

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee recessed this morning after 20 hours of debate and failure to agree on an emergency appropriations bill.

The 10 members, five from each house, were to meet again at 1 p.m.

The committee said Tuesday it wanted to complete its work on a compromise bill because to delay it would threaten the April 1 mailing of welfare checks to persons receiving aid to dependent children and aid to the disabled.

The bill, to carry the state through June 30, includes $9 million in funds for the Department of Welfare.

The deadlock was over $2.9 million appropriation to fund sewer and water districts.

The emergency bill would total $19.2 million with the $2.9 million for the water and sewer districts.

Besides the water funds, the committee agreed to put back $200,000 for the food stamp program in the Department of Welfare and $1.1 million for capitol improvements, which was a $44,000 cut from the Senate version.

The original $4.9 million for the water districts approved by the House in their $18.7 million bill was deleted from the $16.1 million Senate version.

An amendment offered in the committee by Sen. Robert A. Young, D— St. Ann, to restore $2.9 million for the sewer and water districts was approved earlier.

However, a senator later said he had mistakenly voted for the amendment.

The committee went through the bill section by section, but then all the senators, except Young, voted against the entire bill. It was the only way the senate could defeat the water money and bring the matter up again.

Approval of three of the five members from each house is required to approve a conference committee measure.

Rep. James "Jay" Russell, D— St. Louis, said the Senate was to blame for the problem on the welfare money.

"If you had not cut the $9 million out last year we wouldn't be having this meeting tonight," he told the senators.

Sen. Norman Merrell, D— Monticello, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said the Senate was concerned the emergency program for the water districts would become a major project requiring more legislative spending.

"We have not seen one word of testimony on where this money is going and who is going to administer it," he said.

Russell turned down attempts by the senators to use the money for the Bi-State Transportation System of St. Louis as a bargaining point.

Mangled wreck covers track

Volunteers worked through the night to strengthen a secondary levee near Old Monroe, Mo., as the raging Mississippi River threatened sections of northeastern Missouri.

A drowning was reported this morning in another area north of Old Monroe at Foley. Details were not immediately available.

Volunteers from the Old Monroe area and from the State Training School for Boys at Boonville were working to shore up the threatened secondary levee near the Cuivre River, which was backed up by the Mississippi.

Richard Nieman, area engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers, said the primary levee blew out two days ago, and the secondary levee is the only thing between the river and about 2,700 acres of farmland and residences.

"If the second levee breaks, water will cover Route 79 and isolate Old Monroe," Nieman said.

"We are having a record flood now. We're higher than the 1947 flood which local people remember as the biggest ever," Nieman said. "As of now, we're holding our own. Barring any further rain, we should be all right.'

The National Weather Service said the Mississippi River rose 18 inches during a 24-hour period in St. Louis to a level of 35.0. A spokesman said the river was expected to crest at about 37 feet Saturday in St. Louis. The highest recorded crest for St. Louis is 40.28 on July 22, 1951.

Crash kills two men

MATTHEWS— Two men died at 9 a.m. today when a train slammed into their car at the Frisco Railroad crossing in Matthews.

The identity of one of the men has not been released, pending notification of the next of kin. One of the men was identified as Tony Lee Brewer, 36, who reportedly lives between Canalou and Morehouse. The second man was burned beyond recognition when the car burst into flames, and he has not been identified.

Police said the accident occurred when three Frisco engines pulling a caboose hit the car. The engines, which were traveling about 50 miles an hour, dragged the car one-half mile along the tracks before stopping.

One man was thrown from the wreckage. The other man was trapped in the car and burned.

The bodies were taken to Richards Funeral Home.

Sikeston crime up 26 per cent

Crime in cities the size of Sikeston continued to climb during 1972, while nationally, crime decreased for the first time in 17 years, according to statistics compiled by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

U.S. Attorney General Richard Kleindienst said statistics show that serious crimes in the United States declined by three per cent last year.

Cities with a population of 250,000 or more reported an average decrease of eight per cent. Cities with a population over 100,000 reported an average decrease of seven per cent. Suburban areas surrounding core cities registered an average increase of two per cent. Rural areas went up four per cent.

Crime in Sikeston rose by a whopping 26 per cent, primarily because of large jumps in the number of burglaries and petit larcenies. Serious crimes in other areas, such as assaults, thefts and auto thefts declined.

There were no murders in the city in 1972, although murders increased by four per cent nationally in cities the size of Sikeston.

Fourth man charged

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP)-A fourth man has been charged in connection with the Jan. 17 extortion-murders of a Grandin, Mo. bank president and two members of his family.

Police said Doyle G. Cowin, 24, of Van Buren, was to be arraigned today in Carter County Magistrate Court on charges of first degree armed robbery. Leeland Negaard, county prosecuting attorney, said the charges against Colin name him as an accessory before the fact in that he allegedly knew of the planned extortion attempt against Robert R. Kitterman, the president of the Grandin bank.

Kitterman, 43, his wife Bertha, 38, and their daughter Roberta, 17, were found tied to trees and shot to death after Kitterman had taken $10,080 from his bank.

Cowin is the brother of Lloyd D. Cowin, 20, also of Van Buren, one of three men who have been charged with murder and kidnaping in the case. The two other suspects are Dallas R. Delay, 33, and Jerry W. Rector, 22, also of the Van Buren area.

CANCER MONTH

April, the month of burgeoning new life, is also the month when Americans are bombarded with reminders of a death- dealing enemy: Cancer. Every year the President designates this month as a time for marshaling national resources in a fight against that enemy. The President already has shown his special interest by singling out cancer, along with heart disease, for an increase in federal support for research -- and this is an economy - budget year when he is chopping away at health- education - welfare funds generally.

The April crusade will have two main goals; to raise money to support the research and service activities of the American Cancer Society, and to urge every adult to get a regular medical checkup for cancer. Some two million volunteers will be going door- to - door on this double mission during the month, bearing the slogan: "We Want to Wipe Out Cancer in Your Lifetime." Last year the society raised $80 million; this year it is reaching for $90 million.

Although cancer is a deadly subject, each year the society brings good tidings of victories leading, it is hoped, to ultimate conquest of a disease that is second only to heart disease in the number of lives it takes. This year there is news of techniques for earlier detection of breast cancer. A problem in dealing with breast cancer is that the disease usually is well advanced by the time it is discovered. However, new techniques of mammography and thermography may indicate breast cancer before the tell-tale lumps become palpable. Mammography is a form of X-ray, thermography involves use of a heat- scanning device on which the tumor may show up as a "hot spot." The government's National Cancer Institute has added $4 million to $2 million put up by the cancer society for a demonstration project to determine whether it will be feasible to apply these techniques on a mass basis. The money will be used to support 20 diagnostic centers around the country, each to examine 5,000 women a year.

DOMESTIC TRAGEDY IS ADDED

One of the major tragedies of the Vietnam War is what has and is happening ot some of the marriages of the men who were held prisoners for so long.

In some cases, the wives are asking for divorce, in others, the husband is asking for the divorce.

It must be a severe blow to both the man who lived through those prisoner years partly by looking forward to a reunion with his wife and family, and to the wife who spent so many lonely years anticipating an eventual reunion with her husband.

The causes of the divorces are usually about the same— the two have grown away from each other over the long span of years during which they were separted, or one or the other has fallen in love with someone else.

In any case, it is an added tragedy that has resulted from that conflict.

Heart specialist Paul Dudley, M.D. warns: "The chief danger of automobiles is not from accidents, but from the fact that they take men off their feet. In today's mechanized, push- button society, many of us don't push ourselves enough. One physical expert claims that the most prevalent disease in this automated era is physical deterioration. Yet most people can get sufficient exercise safely, without overexertion and at great potential benefit to physical and mental well-being.

American Physical Fitness Research Institute reports that our body is not made for a totally sedentary existence. It wears out most rapidly when it is not used. It has been estimated that a sound physical fitness program combined with good nutrition could prevent as much as eight per cent of the deterioration that occurs before age 75.

Exercise firms and conditions the muscles which make any and all movement possible. When muscles start to sag and droop, you can soon see that you are out of shape.

Systematic exercise is needed for a strong, supple spine. This "lifeline" of the body protects our most vital nervous system and transmits the messages that trigger our reactions. Abused, the spine can be a real source of stress.

Researchers of APFRI have found a definite correlation between physical activity and reduced risk of atherosclerosis. Moderate exercise on a consistent basis is needed to maintain the health of the body's fibrinolytic system, which balances the body's blood clotting mechanism, helping to prevent arteries from getting clogged.

Physicians have also found that the body is able to compensate for clogged blood vessles by developing alternate blood vessel pathways (collateral circulation). Simple brisk walking seems to aid this process and to promote circulation, muscle tone, digestion, bowel movements and even healing.

Walking, jogging and swimming are popular exercise favorites, but consult your doctor before embarking on any program of unaccustomed activity. Follow his suggestions and advised limitations.

A good basic physical fitness program with proper supervision and patient persistence may add years to your life and life to your years. But you must make the choice: body care or medicare?

I've always believed that the freezer compartment in a refrigerator was for short term storage. What has changed this?

There are some models of refrigerators that have only one door. An inner door separates the freezer from the refrigerator compartments. It is difficult to maintain low temperature in such models. The use and care books advise short-term storage which is two or three months.

What happens to operating costs when the freezer temperature is increased?

The lower the temperature the higher will be the operating costs. Reducing door opening, organizing food packages so they can be located quickly and keeping the freezer as full as possible help to moderate cost of operation.

What's the best way to get rid of an old refrigerator?

The Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers has prepared a leaflet that offers some suggestions for preventing accidents with discarded appliances. It comes with the use and care books of new refrigerators. It is important to remove doors on refrigerators and freezers before discarding them. If a refrigerator is still in good condition, it might be used in a vacation home, or in the recreation room or basement for additional storage. Occasionally, a church or society agency would appreciate a gift of a well cared for appliance.

REALISTIC ANALYSIS OF ISSUES IS URGED BEFORE TAX REFORM

Congress should undertake an objective analysis of tax reform issues, according to the National Association of Manufacturers.

The study, the NAM said, should provide realistic estimaties of the revenue to be gained through the tax reform, cover the economic effects of any major income redistributions, and consider the extent to which reform should focus on corporate versus individual income taxes.

In a statement filed with Senator William Proxmire, chairman of the Joint Committee, the NAM said that recent politically oriented charges try to make it appear that the "corporate sector is getting off virtually scott free" as far as federal income taxes are concerned.

Actually, according to Melvin C. Holm, chairman of NAM's Taxation Committee, Treasury Department figures prove that over the last four years corporate tax burdens have been increased while income taxes for individuals have been significantly reduced, particularly for lower-income groups.

"The country has been bombarded with demands for massive tax changes with scant, if any, attention to the actual tax policy record to date," Mr. Holm said. "The best answers will not be found in the heat of a presidential campaign but through painstaking analysis."

Mr. Holm said the aim of tax reform should be to provide a better climate for productive enterprise of all income groups. "We believe that both tax equity and economic progress can best be serviced when tax rates are moderate at all points," he said. "In our view, a program of across- the - board tax reductions can only be made effective through much better control of government spending. We doubt very much that the leeway for any significant rate reduction could be provided by plugging loopholes, equity considerations aside."

Mr. Holm said the NAM believes that tax policy should encourage job- creating private sector investment. "How else are we going to continue to pay wage scales so far above everyone else in the industralized world?" he asked the committee.

SPACE AND PROGRESS

Numerous scientists, businessmen, and governmental leaders have warned against excessive cutbacks in the nation's space effort. None has uttered this warning with greater sincerity nor with greater authority, based on experience, then Mr. Willard F. Rockwell, Jr., head of a major space and commercial manufacturing concern.

Mr. Rockwell declares, "We must have a continuing high level of space activity, not for the benefit of any one country alone, but for the benefit of the entire world. To do otherwise would be to ignore our responsibilities to our children and the future of mankind." Mr. Rockwell points out that space achievement holds the key to the future by unlocking new resources in the seas, extending the life of valuable forests and the developing of a new science of agricultural control. Cutbacks in the space program not only threaten the nation's technological future but its capabilities to cope with environmental problems, in the opinion of Mr. Rockwell. He also sees exploration of space as the key to international cooperation.

The involvement of foreign countries in National Aeronautics and Space Administration programs, to date, has centered primarily on unmanned research programs. Some 74 nations have participated in NASA efforts. At the moment, one of the programs holding the greatest promise for international participation is the development of a space shuttle vehicle -- a vehicle that will transport men and cargo from Earth to a space station and back.

It is unthinkable that these great efforts and the promise they hold for the future should be terminated and the shades drawn on such unlimited potential for human progress.

While good citizens thrill to the proud and patriotic deportment of the fighting men returning home from communist prison camps, the left- siders are shocked and appalled. It is beyond the understanding of the brainwashed and self- deluding left- leaners that returning prisoners of war could be blessing their God, their country and the military service and commanders who sent them into battle.

When fighting men, one after another in a steady stream, simply and sincerely express their pride, their gratitude and their patriotism, the left- siders are struck dumb but, unfortunately, only for a short time. Although their own reporters on the spot testified to the obvious unrehearsed sincerity of the returning POWs, the "leading" newspapers of the East, the New York Times and the Washington Post, decided that the Pentagon had put words in the mouths of the returning men.

The leader, commander or coach of any winning team effort, in war or peace, could tell the left- siders the real truth, which is that these brave men would not have survived the years of mistreatment by the communists without faith in themselves, their cause, their teammates and their country. In is the same in every war. Those without faith soon die in captivity. The ones who survive in every war or disaster suffer the same conditions as those who fail. The difference is in faith and will, the fundamentals which sustain the patriot.

Be alert and be aware of this left- line. It is to discredit the returning fighting men and their patriotism, to make their sacrifice look trifling or ridiculous and to counteract the sell of honest patriotism welling up in proud citizens all across the nation. You can challenge and defeat this leftist effort through your personal voice and influence, especially in letters to the editor. HLH

SCITUATE, Mass. (AP) — A man who works at night and is free to roam suburbia during the day learns quickly that it's a woman's world.

Driving into any small suburban town at 11 a.m. on a weekday he realizes with a little tick of terror that he's alone and awash in a sea of mothers driving station wagons.

All the men are away in the city or in town, tending to their chores. There are some things more dangerous than a pre-occupied matron in a station wagon, but they are few.

Even if the suburban night workers stays home in the daylight hours, the telephone is there to remind him of all the all-engulfing presence of woman.

It rings. His wife is somewhere in the basement doing laundry or casting spells. He panics, but he has no escape. He answers it.

"Hello," he says.

The worst thing a suburban man can do at 11 a.m. is answer his own telephone. He precipitates a social crisis. He can feel through the receiver the confusion he's caused for the caller, a woman, of course.

"Ah-oo-er ah," says the caller. "Is Mrs. Suburbia there?"

"Yes, but she's in the basement in communication with Satan. Maybe I can help you."

"Ah-ooo-er, ah, No. I'd better speak to Mrs. Suburbia."

"I see. All right. Can I tell her who's calling?"

"Ah-ooo-er,ah, this is Mrs. Eek from Central School. I want to talk to her about Cathy, ah-ooo-er, ah, her daughter."

"Maybe I can help," says Suburbia. "I'm Mr. Suburbia."

"Oh?"

"Cath's father."

"Oh?" There is great surprise, almost pain, in Mrs. Eek's voice.

Suburbia wonders, "Now who did this woman think I was. The milkman? The mailman? Something worse?"

"Oh," says Mrs. Eek again. "Ah-ooo-er, ah, perhaps I'd better call back. Yes. I'll call back."

She hangs up. Her relief in escape is apparent right through the receiver.

The poor woman is conditioned like a machine to expect a woman on a home telephone at 11 a.m. She just cannot cope with a man.

There are other problems. Store clerks, even men, look at Suburbia at 11 a.m. as if he is out of place at best, or casing the joint.

Even waking in the bosom of one's own home is on trial.

It's 10 a.m. for everybody else. The day is in full cry, full of alarms, challenges and joys. But it is dawn for Suburbia.

Nobody cares. Children assault him like banshees.

Strange children, over to play, invade his bedroom without shame.

True, there are great advantages to a night schedule. No traffic, no parking problems, the daylight to enjoy oneself.

But, as with anything else good and fine, one pays a price.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Nixon Muzzle on CIA

WASHINGTON-- Our sources inside the Central Intelligence Agency are alarmed over an apparent move to politicize its intelligence estimates and evaluations.

The craggy new CIA chief, James Schlesinger, is shaking up the Office of National Estimates, which produces the super- secret studies of world developments. Each September, for instance, this office completes a painstaking survey of Soviet capabilities and intentions.

But CIA estimates, unhappily, have often conflicted with President Nixon's own concepts. Schlesinger's shake- up, therefore, has been interpreted within the CIA as an attempt to make the intelligence analyses conform with the President's thinking.

The President's displeasure with the CIA has been no secret inside the agency. In 1971, he issued a detailed "decision memorandum," complaining about inadequate intelligence and calling for changes. He gave his national security adviser, Henry Kissinger, new power to evaluate intelligence and instructed the CIA director, Richard Helms, to make the estimating- analyzing operation more responsive to White House needs.

Reluctant Helms

Some of the reforms the President sought, to be sure, were intended to reduce runaway costs and to increase efficiency. But the cool, competent Helms was reluctant to adopt changes that might make the CIA less professional and more political.

He believed there should be a diversity, not conformity, of intelligence activities. He thought diverse views should be funneled to the White House as a check upon the rival intelligence services. If the President should receive only an intelligence consensus and this should turn out to be wrong, Helms feared, it would be disastrous for the nation.

But the conservatives around Nixon persuaded him that the CIA had a liberal taint and that the Office of National Estimates, in particular, took a dovish view of the Vietnam War.

It's true the CIA warned in 1966- 67 that Communist strength was almost double what the Joint Chiefs estimated. Sure enough the Communists struck with unexpected power during the 1968 Tet holidays.

Bombing Claims

It's true the CIA claimed that the bombing of North Vietnam had not disrupted the flow of supplies down in the infiltration routes into the South. Sure enough, the Communists launched an unexpected, powerful offensive in March 1972.

It's true the CIA warned that the mining of Haiphong harbor and the renewed bombing of the North wouldn't keep the North Vietnamese forces from getting all the supplies they needed. This estimate, too, was subsequently verified.

Of course, the CIA wasn't always right. It badly underestimated the flow of Communist supplies through the Cambodian port of Sihanoukville and, therefore, discounted the need for invading Cambodia.

The CIA also upset the White House by disputing Defense Secretary Melvin Laird's statement to Congress in 1969 that the Soviets had succeeded in installing multiple warheads on the giant SS- 9 missile, each warhead capable of hitting an independent target. The White House wanted Congress to believe Laird and vote for more defense funds.

In the future, however, it appears that the CIA will be less likely to disagree with the White House.

Footnote: A CIA spokesman said that Schlesinger's shake- up is intended to reduce unnecessary costs, remove the deadwood and increase efficiency. In part, this undoubtedly is true.

Washington Whirl

ITT Again-- The sprawling ITT conglomerate, already in hot water with Congress over its dealing in Chile, has a new problem closer to home. ITT promised the Securities and Exchange Commission to tell its prospective mutual funds customers about its legal difficulties. The disclosures were supposed to have gone out in an amended pamphlet, dealing with ITT's Hamilton Fund, on January 19. We sent a representative to ITT's mutual fund office in nearby Virginia to pick up copies. We found it still doesn't warn buyers about the legal problems. At Hamilton's headquarters in Denver, a spokesman said any reneging on the promise to SEC must be "a failure in the field."

Message to Muskie-- The presidents of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler have paid separate, private calls on Sen. Ed Muskie, D- Me., to enlist his support for delaying the 1975 deadline when antipollution devices must be installed on automobiles. Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss, whose law firm represents Chrysler, also spoke to Muskie about his meeting with Chrysler's President John Riccardo. Muskie told us that Strauss asked no favors but merely mentioned the meeting. In any case, the visits from the auto tycoons didn't impress Muskie. As chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Air and Water Pollution, he is preparing to blast the auto manufacturers for not moving faster to meet the antipollution standards.

$1,219.63 collected for Dystrophy

Contributions totaling $1,219.63 were received from the Sikeston house- to-house march against Muscular Dystrophy, according to campaign treasurer Bill Waltrip.

Seventy- five per cent of the funds collected will be forwarded to the National Muscular Dystrophy Association office for research into the mysterious crippling disease. The remaining funds will remain with the local chapter and is used to provide patient services and clinical care.

"To all who contributed," Waltrip said, "I wish to extend a most hearty thanks, with special word of gratitude to the volunteer marchers who so willingly marched for those who may never walk again."

Waltrip added, "The people of the community can be proud of their part in this year's crusade. The cooperation of city officials and the news media, both radio and newspaper, contributed greatly to the success of this campaign."

Ann hopes public will mature about pornography

Dear Ann Landers: Often I find myself applauding your wisdom and common sense. But now and then you display a smug, arbitrary attitude that makes me furious. I refer to your insistence that people who stash pornography, enjoy stag films, peep shows, etc., are "adolescent" or "sick." Granted, Miss Landers, they may be either or both, but labeling them does not solve the problem. Their needs must be considered and dealt with.

How wonderful it would be if everyone in this world were sexually fulfilled---married to (or going with) a person whose sexual appetite matched theirs perfectly. There would be no need to consider alternatives. Surely you know this is not the case. Sometimes a race horse gets teamed with a plow horse. Or no sex partner is available. Some people are inhibited and shy, forced to turn to vicarious methods of gratification such as looking at pictures, or live performances. If an off-beat turn-on helps a person, what's wrong with it? Does it hurt anybody?

You realize, or course, that many women enjoy porno too. Remember that fantastic sale of the first magazine in America to feature a centerfold of a nude male? And now we have a movie (which I shall not name, but the star was featured on the cover in a popular news magazine), and it promises to break box-office records.

So please, Ann, don't be such a bluenose. Be realistic. And compassionate. I hate to see you line up with the segment of society which favors censorship and decides what adults should see, read and look at. --Richfield, Minn.

Dear Rich: I agree with several points in your letter. But you are adding apples and oranges and getting pomegranates.

I am and always have been against censorshop. I believe the present popularity of hard-core pornography is a reaction to our phony, mid-Victorian years of repression. But we are getting nutty in the opposite direction.

It is my hope that in time, a public, free to choose, will become so surfeited with trash that they will no longer spend their time or money on it. That, to me, would be the hallmark of maturity.

Dear Ann Landers: The big problems in life we can handle just fine. It's the little ones that drive us bananas. Listen to this.

My parents moved from a three- bedroom apartment to a smaller one. Now there is no guest room-- but a very large sun porch. Mom bought a beautiful red velour couch for the sun porch and she is very proud of it.

Pa's brother comes to town twice a month. Uncle Freddie is a bachelor and lives 100 miles from here. He used to sleep in the spare room, but now we don't have one. Pa says he can sleep on the couch. Mom says, "Over my dead body!" the couch costs $650 and Uncle Freddie weighs about 290 pounds. Mom is afraid he'll sag the springs. Pa says his brother's feelings mean more to him than the dat gum couch.

Please rush a solution. The war is on. -- In The Middle

Dear In: Your folks should buy a sturdy rollaway cot and keep it on hand for Uncle Freddie. A 290- pounder may well sag the springs of a velour couch. This could create a real fight between your mom and pa. Give them this column and let's hope they pass the peace pipe already..

A no-nosense aproach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage---What To Expect," will perpare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope.

Matthews youth's probation revoked

NEW MADRID — Revocation of probation for James Robert Gadis, 17, of Matthews was ordered Tuesday in Circuit Court by Judge William L. Ragland.

Gadis had been granted supervised probation after he received a two- year sentence on Jan. 3 on felonious stealing charge when he pleaded guilty to stealing a 1973 pickup truck valued at $4,400 which belonged to John Buck of Canalou.

He has been charged in Stoddard County with two counts of tampering with a motor vehicle and jail escape.

Delbert Potts pleaded guilty to two charges of forgery. He was given consecutive two-year sentences on the two charges, then granted probation with supervision. Potts had cashed two fraudulent checks at Kewanee Mercantile on Sept. 29, 1972.

Betty L. Simmons was awarded $7,500 for persoanl injury damages in a guit against Sandra Colson which allegedly resulted from an automobile accident on Sept. 6, 1972.

Margaret Patricia Ferrell of Morehouse received a divorce, custody of three children, $15 weekly per child for support and $300 attorney's fee in her suit against Glen Gay Ferrell.

Virginia Lee Borders Walker of Parma was granted a divorce, custody of one child and $75 monthly child support against Leonard Junior Walker.

Jewel Tallie of New Madrid was divorced from Lon B. Tallie.

Judge Ragland entered an order March 21 that a life sentence imposed against Mrs. Jean Ann Pavy on Oct. 1, 1971 for second degree murder remain in force after overruling her motion to vacate sentence.

A hearing on the motion was held on March 16 when Mrs. Pavy testified that her sentence was too harsh for her participation in the shotgun slaying of her husband, Odell Pavy, on July 23, 1971 at their rural Gideon home.

Man hurt in wreck

GIDEON — A Gideon man received minor injuries Tuesday in a traffic accident at the junction of Highway 153 and Route B seven miles northeast of town.

The accident occurred when Bobby Lee Cowart, 28, driving a pickup truck north at a high rate of speed, came to the intersection, failed to stop, knocked down a utility pole and a steel sign post.

He was taken to Doctor's Hospital in Poplar Bluff with a knee injury.

Cowart was cited for driving while intoxicated.

HATES TO BAT NINTH

LEVITTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — New York Met shortstop Bud Harrelson told 700 Levittown Youth Council members at their annual sports day that he would hate "to bat ninth and that's where I'd bat if the National League used the designated hitter rule."

This season in the American League teams will use the new "designated hitter" rule, permitting a batter to hit for the pitcher. The pitcher will be allowed to remain in the game.

Charleston project delayed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — More than $1 billion will be needed in Missouri in the next seven years for municipal sewage treatment construction, the state Clean Water Commission announced Tuesday.

The commission also announced that 12 construction projects in Missouri cities and sewer districts totaling about $3 million will be delayed until federal guidelines for grants are completed.

Since January, the commission has received requests for $54 million to fund clean water projects throughout the state.

Those requests do not include money needed by cities along the Missouri and Mississippi rivers to meet federal standards in secondary treatment plants by the Dec. 31, 1975 deadline, the commission said.

The projects to be delayed are located in:

Rock Port, Lee's Summit, Mercer, Palmyra, Salem, Cole Camp, Charleston, Lawson, Ellisville, and the Lake Adelle and Glaize Creek sewer districts in Jefferson County.

The commission also announced grant increases for seven projects located in:

Huntsville, Hawk Point, Fulton, Kansas City, Warsaw, Blue Springs, and the metropolitan St. Louis sewer district.

That's Progress?

Sheep flocks total 15.8 million head today, compared with 19 million 15 years ago or 44.9 million just after the Civil War. Man-made cloth has blanketed much of the wool industry.

Two arrested

Potts is accused of writing two fraudulent checks, one in the amount of $155.32 and one for $175.23 on Sept. 29, 1972, purportedly signed by John Brehmer and cashing them at Kewanee Mercantile.

Wilma Gene Medlock was fined $130 on charges of driving while intoxicated and having no operator license. She was given a six- month suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for one year.

Jim Martin, charged with two counts of cheat and defraud, was fined $30 on one count and $21 on the second count. He was ordered to make restitution on both checks.

Walter Lee Beck Jr. paid $75 fine on charges of illegal possession of beer and speeding.

James Carlos Croney, charged with operating vehicle with no Missouri Public Service Commission authority, was fined $115.

Four fined on speeding charges were Rodger Lynn Miller, $65; Billy Ray Jobe, $28; Woodrow Wilson, $25; and Royce M. Gates, $25.

New theater to open at Kingsway Mall

A 200- seat theatre will be opened at Kingsway Plaza in Sikeston late this summer, it has been announced by John J. Nooney of St. Louis, vice president of Nooney Company, owner and manager of the shopping center, and Herbert R. Levy, vice president of Malco Theatres, Inc. of Memphis, Tenn.

To be called the Mall Cinema, this theater will contain wide, plush and contoured seats, completely-dropped auditorium and the latest in projection equipment.

The addition of the theater to Kingsway Plaza will add to the services and facilities the shopping center offers the people of Sikeston and surrounding area.

Construction will start immediately.

The Malco Theatre chain also operates the Rex, Malone, Malco Twin Cinema and Delta Drive-in theaters in Sikeston.

Nooney Company, owner of Kingsway Plaza, owns and operates shopping centers throughout Missouri.

Merger planned

The J. Zinsmeister Company, Greenville, Ky., and Wetterau Foods, Inc., Hazelwood, Mo., said they have agreed in principle for Wetterau Foods, Inc., to acquire substantially all of the outstanding stock of Zinsmeister in exchange for an undisclosed number of shares of Wetterau common stock. The agreement is subject to approval of a definitive agreement by the directors of both companies.

Wetterau had sales of $405,851,000 in its most recent fiscal year ended April 1, 1972, while Zinsmeister had sales of about $57,000,000 for its most recent fiscal year ended December 30, 1972.

New factory ready

Construction of the Arnold Sales Company Factory building in Caruthersville, was completed recently and production at Pemiscot County's newest industry will begin immediately on a limited basis, according to owner George Arnold.

One machine, a six bar slitter, has already been moved into the building and work with the machine will begin soon. Arnold said it will be about March before full- scale production will start.

The factory is 10,000 square- feet and was built by Mitchell Engineering Company of Mississippi. Perry Going of Caruthersville acted as the contractor. The approximate cost to construct the building was $45,000.

"As soon as the training period is over, we will have 27 new employees at the plant," Arnold commented.

The factory will manufacture corrugated boxes. It will be entering contracts with national firms.

Work first began to locate the factory in August of 1972. It was financed by the Small Business Administration, First Missouri Development Corporation, Pemiscot County Industrial Development Commission, and private stockholders.

First $1,000,000 year

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

I will instruct you and teach you the way you should go. (Psalm 32:8, RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father God, make us receptive to Your will for us. Instead of our gazing on the confusion and our limitations, help us to lift our eyes to see the glorious possibilities You see for us. In Jesus' name we ask it. Amen.

Clothes doused by firemen

Firemen were called at 8:10 p.m. Tuesday at 128 Petty St. to extinguish a fire in a car owned by J. D. Richardson.

Firemen said a basket of clothes in the back of the car started smoldering for no apparent reason. The clothes had just been taken out of the dryer.

Open university planned

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Five task forces are being formed to develop plans for a statewide open university to bring higher education to one million more Missourians, Jack L. Cross, executive director of the state Commission on Higher Education, said today.

Jack Bradford of the commission staff drafted the model and it was discussed earlier this month in St. Louis by about 100 educators.

Operating similar to a correspondence course, the system would enable working persons and housewives to finish courses they dropped when they went to work or got married, and to take other courses they never would have had time for.

A survey by the commission indicated there are more than 1 million Missourians over 25 years old who have only a high school education or who have completed some college courses without getting a degree.

The state now has 186,000 student in its private and public universities. There now are 117 extension centers in the state.

The task forces will study and make recommendations on the open university's general concept, financing, curriculum and degree requirements.

Cross said the open university would not duplicate the University of Missouri extension system or correspondence courses of other colleges and universities, but would coordinate them into a larger program.

Under preliminary plans, lectures and test would be given at local learning centers which would be on campuses, at libraries, grade schools and in offices.

Cross said the "university without walls" would have to construct no more than $5 million worth of new buildings. It would have a computer and a statewide television network.

Bradford said the cost of a credit hour could be as low as $25 compared with more than $60 an hour in most colleges.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A two-year environmental study has been launched by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration of the 105,000-square mile area of coastal waters off Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas. Four ships, a plane, a hydrographic field party and land support units will carry out the program. Similar studies are planned for other east coast areas later. Dubbed SCOPE, the project is designed to help coastal zone planners predict the results of natural and man-made activities.

Burlison introduces bill to boost tax check-off

WASHINGTON — Rep. Bill D. Burlison, Missouri's 10 District congressman, and 40 other House members have introduced legislation requiring Internal Revenue Service to place the $1 tax check-off for the presidential election campaign fund on the front page of the individual taxpayer's tax return form.

The check-off, possible for the first time this year, was authorized by congress in 1971. It enables taxpayers to allocate $1 to a special fund established to finance the 1976 presidential election campaign.

"When Congress authorized the check-off," explained Burlison, "we intended it to be placed on the front of each tax return. But last year we discovered that the IRS had prepared a separate form, known as Form 4875, which is buried in the packet of tax material mailed to taxpayers in January.

"Those people who must obtain their tax forms from banks and post offices are having difficulty locating Form 4875. We made a spot check of eigh locations in Washington where tax material is provided, for example, and we found that the check-off form was not available.

"Because the check-off has been all but ignored by IRS, it's understandable that only about four per cent of the taxpayers filing returns this year have taken advantage of this new campaign financing procedure. Unless the rate of response improves, the new law will fail to achieve its purpose.

Ten to 15 per cent of all taxpayers will have to use the check-off every year up to 1976 in order to provide each major party with the $20 to $22 million it is authorized to receive under the 1971 Act.

"It's obvious that the Nixon administration would like to see the check-off fail," Burlison went on to say. "In fact, when he signed the check-off bill into law, President Nixon said he hoped Congress would see the 'defects' in the new system and repeal the law.

"Despite the opposition of the Nixon Administration, we cannot allow the check-off to fail. It represents one of the most important political reforms of the last 50 years and it could very well democratize the entire campaign spending process. The check - off means that, for the first time, political parties can raise the campaign funds they need from average citizens rather than relying on special interests as they have done in the past.

"Our bill represents a small but significant way of helping to insure that the check-off will be successful."

NEW REEF PAYS OFF

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (AP) — The new Marco Island artificial fishing reef is paying off with big fish. Jerry Batjes of Hudsonville, Mich., fishing with charter boat captain Ray Page, boated a 24-pound redfish. The 38-inch red was boated two miles off shore in 20 feet of water. Florida west coast redfish usually weigh five pounds or less.

The reef consists of about 24,000 old automobile and truck tires. They were compacted and bundled and dropped there in March, 1972 by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

What's the law?

The case of the la-de-da spouse

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Harold never hid behind his wife's skirts. On the contrary, he much preferred to wear them. In fact, he wore everything she owned. Dresses, coats and underwear. He even wore her makeup. When he began to wear them out of the house, however, that was the payoff as far as his wife was concerned. She packed together her belongings, except for what Harold was wearing, and left him. And several days later she started an action to end their marriage on the grounds of extreme cruelty.

"I never had anything to wear," she complained in court, "because Harold was always wearing my things. But even worse, just picture my consternation at having all my friends see La— De— Da Harold sashaying down the street. "That's not extreme cruelty," was Harold's answer. "That's transvestism. While I love my wife, I just couldn't resist the urge to dress up like a female. What's needed is her understanding and not a divorce."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you free Harold's wife from her La— De— Da spouse?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a male transvestite is dominated by a desire to be identified with the female sex. His dress, manner, occupational interests and associations are all designed to enhance his feelings of being a woman. His characteristics, concluded the judge, negates the primary purpose of marriage. To require a woman to cohabit with such a person is unreasonable or improper so as to constitute cruelty.

(Based upon a 1972 New Jersey Superior Court Decision)

MAILBOX

March 12, 1973
Mr. Charles Blanton
Sikeston, Missouri

Dear Sir:

One of the most grave and sobering issues to face modern civilization lies on our doorstep now. We must decide now what we are going to do with the avalanche of unwanted human beings that is being thrust upon us. This grave issue cannot be cast aside or swept under the rug. It is a question that we must take issue with now. Every one of us must take a side, and voice his convictions loud and clear.

We must not, as an intricate part of the greatest Nation on earth stand in the shadow of this demoralizing, ruthless issue, and allow the so called professionals make our decisions.

Not only are we faced with the uncivilized decision, that is if we follow the High Court's decision, to legalize the murder of our unwanted children, but if the good people who have hearts of flesh instead of stone, set on their hands and allow this law to stand as passed by an un-Godly Court God Himself will judge us as a Nation of killers of innocent little babies.

The wise man who is acquainted with the long line of court decisions handed down by the highest court in the land can readily see that it has been a very long line of decisions that have taken us further and further from the fundamental and basic truths of God's Word.

With one stroke of a tender pen of compassion, they say, that it is inhuman and un-Godly to take another's life; in so doing, they free from this fear, the beastly animal that lurk through our troubled, yet beautiful land, mugging and terrorizing old helpless men, raping and killing old women and little girls.

Stories of dastardly crimes scream at us every day from the front pages of our Nation's newspapers and other media. This Nation sets behind locked doors and barred windows, in chains of fear and desperation, wondering if it will be the next victim of some brute beast, rapist, killer.

All the while, in most cases, from the Highest Court to the lowest, they clamor, "let's be kind to those environmental helpless victims."

Yet the same pen has turned from a tender pen of compassion, into a brutish weapon of murder. They, many times, pass over lightly the hideous acts of those human animals when they slash the throat of some innocent young girl; rapes her as she dies in the pool of her own blood.

The same Court has now in a fantastically infamous decision, at least by some said, in effect, it is not wrong morally or otherwise, to take a sharp instrument and probe the womb and slit the throat of a helpless, unwanted human being.

Now this brings me to the big and very little publicly discussed question. If it is not morally wrong, if it is not against the laws of the greatest Nation on earth to kill and destroy the unwanted helpless human beings who are yet in the womb; what will keep us from, any day now, pass laws to destroy all the week, and helpless who have been borne, those who are old in years, the cripple, and others who are unable any longer to make a productive contribution to society?? I am talking about human beings who are unable to protect themselves. Are we drifting toward a philosophy, in this land, that leaves us with no sense of human and moral obligation toward human beings who are unwanted, weak, and unable to protect themselves?

I am terribly afraid that if the good people of this land allows, with no massive protest, this law to stand as is, not only will we be seeking new ways and means to dispose of our waste and unwanted material, we will be seeking ways to dispose of the worn out, helpless, unwanted human flow that flows from the legalized murder houses throughout this God forsaken land.

I struggle with the question of any good doctor pledged to the preservation of human life, possibly, in the name of humanity, in any room of healing, take money to kill and destroy a human being. And yet, in the same room of healing, spend many hours of precious time and hundreds of dollars trying to save a human life. It would all depend here if that human being was wanted or unwanted.

These things I do not understand. Since when have we become gods? I believe that life and death belong to God, and none other. Could it be that the American people have gone so far away from God that they are allowing nine old codgers who, in most cases, have no sense of right or wrong, to become their gods?

You will note, that even if I could I have not taken time to be neither eloquent nor diplomatic; I am in no mood for fancy words.

Mercy and justice for all men, are things that I am dedicated to, whether weak or strong, whether rich or poor, whether giants or whether they are unborn babies, they must have an equal opportunity to develop into their fullest capabilities.

Every well, sane, human being has a Godly responsibility to the weak. Ye that are strong, care for the weak, and so fulfill the law of Christ. If this Nation ignores this law, she will bring the gates of hell down upon her own head.

Sincerely,
R. C. Martin

Tigers add to elderly image

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Tigers, a team often labeled "too old to win," reinforced their elderly image Tuesday by acquiring veteran pitcher Jim Perry, while the San Francisco Giants' pennant hopes received a boost by the outstanding performances turned in by veterans Juan Marichal and Willie McCovey in exhibition baseball Tuesday.

Minnesota sent Perry, 36, to the Tigers in exchange for minor league pitcher Dan Fife, who was 14-7 with Montgomery of the Southern League last year.

Perry, the Cy Young Award winner in 1970 when he compiled a 24-12 record, is the winningest active pitcher in the American League with a career mark of 180-139. The 6-foot-4 left-hander, who'll be entering his 15th major league season, was 13-16 with the third-place Twins last year with a 3.34 earned run average. He earns an estimated $68,000 a year.

Meanwhile, Marichal, the National League's winningest active pitcher with a 227-125 career record, took a giant step on the road to recovery from a season of injuries by hurling seven innings of hitless ball as San Francisco stopped the San Diego Padres on one hit 6-0.

And McCovey, the Giants' slugging first baseman who missed much of last season with a broken right forearm, belted a two-run home run and added an RBI single to provide the offensive power.

In other exhibition games, Cleveland beat Oakland 6-0, Cincinnati edged Los Angeles 54, Montreal topped Houston 6-4, St. Louis nipped Pittsburgh 2-1, Boston trimmed the New York Mets 3-2, the Chicago White Sox beat Atlanta 7-3, Kansas City defeated the New York Yankees 4-2, Milwaukee downed California 8-6, Minnesota beat Baltimore 6-3 and Detroit edged Philadelphia 8-7.

After Marichal's seven inninngs, Don Carrithers and Elias Sosa completed the shutout. Sosa gave up San Diego's only hit, a bloop single by Jerry Morales in the ninth inning.

Dick Tidrow limited Oakland to three hits over six innings and relievers Ray Lamb and Rich Hinton finished the shutout, Cleveland's sixth consecutive exhibition triumph.

Larry Stahl scored the winning run for Cincinnati in the eighth inning on Dave Concepcion's single. Montreal's Mike Jorgensen and Ron Fairly collected three hits apiece against Houston.

Ted Simmons two-run double with two out in the first inning provided the support for St. Louis starter Jim Bibby, who went eight innings and held Pittsburgh to two hits.

Bob Montgomery homered and John Curtis pitched six solid innings for Boston. Ed Herrmann rapped out three hits and Buddy Bradford hit a three-run homer for the White Sox.

Kansas City's Steve Busby held the Yankees to three hits in six innings in the Royals' victory. Joe Lahoud hit a tworun homer as Milwaukee rallied for four runs in the seventh inning to defeat California.

Doubles by Rod Carew and Danny Thompson marked a five-run, eighth-inning rally for Minnesota. Tony Taylor, a former Phillie, had four singles for the Tigers, and the fourth one drove in the winning run in the eighth inning.

Sports Corner

It's finally over ... The 1972-73 high school basketball season is history now, except for the naming of a few boys to all-American teams and the announcement of those who get athletic scholarships.

This past season has been one of the most exciting ever for this seven year veteran of the sports world, who viewed 107 games this season, including the state tournaments.

The majority of the area coaches worked well with the Daily Standard sports staff ... and we certainly appreciated the time and effort put forth to assist us. We hope that the spring sports coaches in baseball, track, golf and tennis are just as cooperative.

If any of our readers have anything to contribute to our pages, we hope they'll call us or come by the office. We always like to run pictures of large catches of of fish or just anything relative to sports because the summer season is sometimes slow on local items and as many of you know, we strive to put the accent on local sports.

Senath- Hornersville high school is looking for another team to fill out their annual tournament of Jan. 2-5. Any school wishing to enter this big eight team affair should contact coach Jim Isbell.

Three Rivers Community College placed Ron Johnson on the National Junior College all-tournament team after the Raiders finished fifth in the national two weeks ago.

Johnson was a late season starter and added spark to TRCC's drive toward the national event.

Coach Gene Bess has announced the signing of Charleston's Alvin Pierce and Fred Rowe of Scott Central to grant in aids at TRCC and noted that big John Sims, all-stater at Richland high two seasons ago, will enter TRCC next season.

Denver Miller, coach of the Kirkwood high school Pioneers basketball team, is the state's winningest cage coach. Miller has posted a 708-336 mark in 38 years at Kirkwood, according to a survey made by Jim Vieth of KLIK radio in Jefferson City. Flat River Central's Bill Bradley is the only Southeast Missouri coach listed on the roster of coaches who have won 200 or better games and are still active. Bradley has a 15 year coaching record of 259-135 at four schools.

Three players that the Three Rivers Raiders had to content with this season have been named to the National Junior College Athletic Association all-American basketball team.

Perry Hines, a 6-foot- 3 guard from Lake Land JC of Matoon, Ill., whom the Raiders faced in the TRCC Classic of Champions tournament, was selected to the first team. Sonny Parker, a 6-foot-5 athlete from Mineral Area Community College of Flat River was named to the thrid team and Jim Moton, a 6-foot-5 star from Jefferson College of Hillsboro was named to the honorable mention list.

Raiders take MCC

POPLAR BLUFF-- Three Rivers Community College scored an unearned run in the bottom of the eighth inning Tuesday afternoon to edge Meramec community College of St. Louis 1- 0. It gave TRCC its first MJAC conference victory of the season against no losses. The Raiders are 3-1 overall.

Former Southland Rebel high school star Randy Smith hooked up with Joe Murphy of Merimac and came within one batter of hurling a no- hitter. The only hit of the game for Merimac came from the eighth batter in the lineup in the top of the eighth inning.

Mike Murphy pitched for Baldwin which was the American Legion national champion last year and he was named the player of the year in the American Legion.

Smith struckout 11 batters and walked only three enroute to the victory.

Neither team could solve the others pitcher's offerings until Bob Redman singled to lead off the bottom of the eighth and he was promptly sacrificed to second. Bobby McCulloch walked and Smith beat out an infield roller, with Redman advancing to third. With the squeeze play on, Redman broke for home and Murphy made a wild pitch allowing the winning run to cross the plate.

The Raiders could manage only four hits themselves and they were divided up among four different players.

It takes a keen eye and the coordination of a professional needle threader to snag suckers. The Missouri snagging season for paddlefish and non-game fish opened March 15 and will run until May 15. Daily take and possession limit on paddlefish is two. Sucker daily limit is 25 pounds plus one fish. Snagging is not legal for game fish, but is highly popular for paddlefish and suckers, primarily.

AAU-NCAA studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. James G. O'Hara says he believes the sanctioning power of the nation's amateur sports organizations should be used as a warning device for colleges and athletes.

"The sanction ought to be a service to the school and not a threat," the Michigan Democrat said Tuesday.

O'Hara stated his views while questioning George Bisacca, a Fairfield, Conn., lawyer, who testified before the special House education subcommitte holding hearings on two bills designed to end the controversy between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Bisacca, who earlier had told the subcommittee that the bills being considered might be unconstitutional, conceded there have been abuses of power by the NCAA and the AAU.

"There is a need for a third body to take this issue away from the two opposing forces," he said.

Legislation cosponsored by O'Hara and Rep. John Dellenback, R-Ore., would make it a federal oxfense, punishable by fines up to $10,000, to deny student-athletes the right to engage in intercollegiate sports because of their participation in international competition.

A second bill under consideration, introduced by Rep. Peter Peyser, R-N.Y., would establish a five-man federal commission to promote the interest of amateur athletes engaging in international competition and to encourage athletic competition among nations and between amateur athletes.

Pros look to playoffs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers could have made it simple by winning. Instead the Milwaukee Bucks put the National Basketball Association Western Conference playoffs in a mess.

Los Angeles can clear everything up again tonight—this time by losing.

After trailing by 11 points in the first half and nine with eight minutes to play, the Bucks ruined the playoff schedule by coming back to edge the Lakers 85-84 Tuesday night for their 14th consecutive victory, the best ever NBA season-ending winning streak.

The victory wound up Milwaukee's regular season 60-22 and split the season series with the Lakers at 3-3.

Los Angeles is now 59-22 and a victory in their final game tonight over Golden State would leave he Pacific Division champion Lakers with the same season mark as the Bucks—and force a pre-playoff contest Friday night at Milwaukee to determine the best conference record.

At stake is the conference title, home court playoff advantage and the playoff pairings.

Oscar Robertson scored 25 points and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar 24 for Milwaukee while Jim McMillian got 32 for the Lakers, who compiled their lowest point total of the season.

In other NBA games Tuesday night, the Chicago Bulls defeated the Cleveland Cavaliers 121-105; the Detroit Pistons smashed the Baltimore Bullets 112-98; the Boston Celtics tripped the Atlanta Hawks 117110 and the Houston Rockets stopped the Buffulo Braves 121111.

In the American Basketball Association, the Utah Stars turned back the Denver Rockets 115-109 and the Indiana Pacers turned back the San Diego Conquistadors 110-107.

Chet Walker and Bob Love combined for 24 points in the third period and drove the Bulls past the Cavaliers. Walker, who finished with 30 points, and Love, who scored 23, ended up with nearly 3,500 points between them for the season.

Dave Bing and Bob Lanier combined for 54 points as Detroit beat sluggish Baltimore. With Bing scoring 10 of his 30 points in the third quarter, the Pistons moved into a 84-68 lead going into the final period. Lanier, who had 24 points, helped Detorit forge a 54-50 halftime lead.

Boston ended its regular season domination over Atlanta by beating the Hawks for the fifth time in six games. John Havlicek had 29 points for the winners while Atlanta's Pete Maravich led all scorers with 30.

Houston spent three quarters playing catch-up, but finally took control behind Cliff Meely and went on to blast Buffalo. Meely score nine of his 18 points in the final quarter to help the Rockets pull ahead. Bob McAdoo led the losers with 39 points and 15 rebounds.

Zelmo Beaty, Ron Boone and Willie Wise sparked balanced Utah past Denver. Beaty led the Stars' offense with 24 points, Boone had 23 and Wise, 21. Byron Beck paced Denver with 22 points and became the all-time Rocket scorer with 6,261.

Bob Arnzen scored 24 points to lead Indiana past San Diego as the Pacers swept all 11 games with their California opponents this year.

MacLeod will stay at Okla.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)— University of Oklahoma basketball coach John MacLeod, amid reports that he was about to sign a contract to become head coach of professional basketball's Phoenix Suns, has declared he plans to remain at Oklahoma.

"I plan to remain as basketball coach at the University of Oklahoma and I have not received any definite offer from the Phoenix Suns," MacLeod declared late Tuesday.

An Oklahoma City television station reported earlier Tuesday that MacLeod had been offered a three-year contract at $42,500 a year to coach the Suns of the National Basketball Association. The station said MacLeod had until today to give the Suns his decision.

The report brought a quick denial from the Phoenix Suns' front office and later MacLeod said his discussions with the Suns had been of a "preliminary" nature only.

Meanwhile, The Daily Oklahoman reported that it had learned MacLeod has been recommended for a $5,000 raise from $18,500 to $23,500 by the University of Oklahoma Athletic Council. The council also reportedly voted to increase the pay of MacLeod's two assistants.

In Phoenix, Jerry Colangelo, the club's general manager, was quoted as saying, "I may offer the job to MacLeod, but I haven't yet."

Others reportedly under consideration are Dick Motta, coach of the Chicago Bulls and two college coaches—Minnesota's Bill Musselman and Marquette's Al MaGuire. Indiana's Bob Knight was reported to be the No. 1 choice of the Suns but removed his name from consideration last week.

MacLeod, 34, has a 90-69 record in six years at Oklahoma. He has twice taken the Sooners to the National Invitational Tournament.

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)— Out two months with a broken hand suffered in a spill, jockey Bill Shoemaker is racing again and after his first ride says, "It was like I hadn't been away for very long at all."

Shoemaker, thoroughbred racing's winningest rider, broke his right hand Jan. 26 and returned to action Tuesday at Santa Anita aboard Canterbury Road in the seventh race, finishing second.

Water- pollution took a grim toll of fish in Missouri in 1972. There were 535,780 fish killed in 27 investigated instances where an estimate could be made. Acid water from strip mine areas and municipal sewage were the two major causes of the kills.

COOKING-UP with judy

When freeze- dried coffee first appeared on the market, coffee drinkers everywhere were quick to recognize that its flavor and aroma compared favorably with the just- perked variety. Then along came freeze-dried decaffeinated coffee, so that anyone could enjoy rich- tasting coffee conveniently, at any hour.

It can also be used as an ingredient in desserts — such as this scrumptious coffee pecan torte. Whip this one up in practically no time using frozen pound cake layered with creamy coffee- flavored frosting. It's the perfect dessert when you need something elegant in a hurry.

COFFEE PECAN TORTE

3 tablespoons hot water
2 teaspoons freeze- dried decaffeinated coffee
3/4 cup butter
1 1/2 cups unsifted confectioners sugar
3 egg yolks
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2/3 cup pecans, finely ground*
1 frozen 12- ounce pound cake (8x4—inch size)
1/4 cup pecan halves
*Pecans can be finely ground in electric blender.

Add water to coffee; stir to dissolve. Cream butter. Gradually blend in sugar. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Stir in prepared coffee, vanilla and finely ground pecans; set aside.

Slice frozen cake horizontally into five layers. Spread each layer with about three tablespoons coffee-pecan mixture. Reassemble cake and sptead remaining coffee- pecan mixture on top and sides of cake. Garnish with pecan halves. Chill until ready to serve. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

"Forget dessert"-- your husband suggests as you struggle with the perfect dinner party menu. But that advice just doesn't work. It leaves dinner unfinished, and it's devastating when you discover your most cherished guest loves dessert.

So, for an answer, look to the Italians for that "little something" to round out the meal (but not you or your guests). Italian chefs have an instinctive feeling for flavor and texture combinations and this Coffee Tortoni is perfect with only 67 calories per serving. The frozen fluff, delicately accented with freeze-dried decaffeinated coffee, is a pleasant contrast to the crunchy nut topping.

COFFEE TORTONI

3/4 cup cold water
4 teaspoons freeze- dried decaffeinated coffee
1 envelope low calorie whipped topping mix
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/8 teaspoon almond extract
2 egg whites
1/8 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup chopped nuts (optional)

Combine water, coffee, whipped topping mix, vanilla and almond extract. Beat until mixture will form soft peaks. Beat egg whites with salt until foamy throughout. Add sugar, one tablespoon at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Continue beating until egg white mixture will form soft rounded peaks. Fold into whipped topping mixture. Spoon into paper souffle cups, paper cups in muffin pans, or 4- ounce paper dessert cups. Sprinkle with chopped nuts, if desired. Freeze until firm-- at least four hours. Makes four cups or 12 servings.

COFFEE RESISTS UNIFORMITY

WHIPPANY, N.J. (AP) — Varying coffee-drinking habits around the world dictate variations in automatic vending machines which dispense the drink, according to Earl C. Ramsey, president of Rowe International, which manufactures such machines.

Those made for the Japanese market, for example, have to produce coffee that is two and a half times sweeter than the accepted American standard. For the Swedish market, the coffee machine must turn out a cup twice as strong as ours. Machines made for some South American countries must have coin slots that are easily adjusted for frequent inflationary price changes.

And there are problems right in the United States. Women, more and more of whom are being hired to service machines, don't like to bend over, says Ramsey, so the company has designed its new machines to make it unnecessary to bend over to service them.

Coffee Corner by Cherie

Well, I'm going to do something I haven't done in a long time, but I've had so many people calling wanting to know what are some of my more budget priced dishes in the cookbook, that I'm going to give you a list of them. Also, I've come up with some marvelous recipes since the printing, and I'll give you two or three of those to cut out and paste on the extra recipe pages that are at the end of each chapter.

Here are some meat dishes that go a long way and considering the price of food today are, I believe budget scaled. Try Judy's Spaghetti and Meat Balls (makes almost 8 quarts of sauce, freeze some, and if you'll add 3 cups of bread crumbs to the meatball mixture it will go lots farther and is really just as good); Hungarian Stuffed Peppers (after you've eaten these save the remainder of the sauce which is divine and pour it over a pot roast with some red wine and have another wonderful meal); Hamburger Diane, Chicken Terazzini, Lasagna, Hamburger Casserole, both the Spaghetti and the Mushroom Pot Roast, definitely the Enchilada Casserole which calls for no meat at all just open cans and dump in for a wonderful casserole; Sausage and Rice, Boos' Brunch (which would be equally good for a light dinner with a tossed salad); Taglarani, East Indian Curry (which is made from left over roasts and lots better and more fun than hash); Mock Chow Mein, Ham Loaf (budget only if you have baked a ham and have left overs), Magic Stew, Chicken Simple, and Hungarian Goulash. All of these are extremely tasty dishes and won't be hard on anyone's pocket book!

Now, here is a dish of chicken breasts in wine that is absolutely divine, and if you're entertaining, it is far better on the budget than beef and most of the time more elegant.

David's Chicken

6 whole chicken breasts, bone, split and skin
1 bottle Sauterne
5 chopped green onions, stems too
2 cups fresh mushrooms,
1 stick oleo
2 cans cream of mushroom soup
salt & pepper to taste

Put chicken in pot, add 3/4 bottle of wine and simmer 12 minutes.

Remove and save 1½ cups wine.

Saute onions and mushrooms in butter, add soup and wine and simmer 5 minutes.

Pour over chicken in a casserole and bake uncovered, at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Here's a new vegetable in a marinade instead of beans that tastes even better and will really surprise you. This was given to me by a wonderful cook from Charleston, who had it handed to her from someone else who had it in the family for years.

Copper Penny Carrots

2 lbs. carrots, sliced round, then cook until tender and drain.

Put into a bowl, carrots, 1 onion sliced, and 1 green pepper sliced.

Now mix this marinade and let stand over carrot mixture at least overnight. Serve as a cold vegetable, makes 1 quart.

Marinade

1 can tomato soup
3/4 cup vinegar
1 cup sugar
½ cup Mazola oil
1 tsp. dry mustard
1 tsp Worchestershire sauce
salt and pepper

Another recipe for left over baked ham.

Ham Casserole

Grind up ½ lb. ham, baked
½ lb. sharp Cheddar
1 green pepper

Cook and drain 2 cups noodles

Add: 1 tsp. horse radish
½ tsp. salt
1 can cream of celery soup with ¼ cup milk

Mix together and bake 350 degrees for 40 minutes. Remove lid, sprinkle buttered bread crumbs over top and broil a few minutes until brown.

SELLS OUT EARLY

NEW YORK (AP) — The second pair of programs in the Little Orchestra Society's series of concerts for young people was sold out four months in advance.

The program is "Babar the Elephant," an opera for children by Nicolai Berezowsky. It is based on the Babar children's books by the late Jean de Brunhoff and Laurent de Brunhoff.

The opera version was commissioned by the Little Orchestra Society and first performed in 1953.

See-Mor TV seeks new networks

See-Mor Cable TV is seeking permission from the Federal Communications Commission to establish cable television networks in Oran, Chaffee and Illmo. Those cities recently approved the establishment of cable systems within their limits.

All three cities have approved 15-year contracts with See-Mor, according to David Blanton, attorney for the company. He said See-Mor will pay the cities three per cent of its profits as a franchise fee. The three per cent is in accordance with new government regulations, he said.

Blanton said the government probably would not approve the application until several months after it is submitted, so he didn't know how long it would be before the first installations could be made. He said the company hopes to connect 60 to 65 per cent of the homes in those three cities.

Committee deadlocked

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee recessed this morning after 20 hours of debate and failure to agree on an emergency appropriations bill.

The 10 members, five from each house, were to meet again at 1 p.m.

The committee said Tuesday it wanted to complete its work on a compromise bill because to delay it would threaten the April 1 mailing of welfare checks to persons receiving aid to dependent children and aid to the disabled.

The bill, to carry the state through June 30, includes $9 million in funds for the Department of Welfare.

The deadlock was over $2.9 million appropriation to fund sewer and water districts.

The emergency bill would total $19.2 million with the $2.9 million for the water and sewer districts.

Besides the water funds, the committee agreed to put back $200,000 for the food stamp program in the Department of Welfare and $1.1 million for capitol improvements, which was a $44,000 cut from the Senate version.

The original $4.9 million for the water districts approved by the House in their $18.7 million bill was deleted from the $16.1 million Senate version.

An amendment offered in the committee by Sen. Robert A. Young, D— St. Ann, to restore $2.9 million for the sewer and water districts was approved earlier.

However, a senator later said he had mistakenly voted for the amendment.

The committee went through the bill section by section, but then all the senators, except Young, voted against the entire bill. It was the only way the senate could defeat the water money and bring the matter up again.

Approval of three of the five members from each house is required to approve a conference committee measure.

Rep. James "Jay" Russell, D— St. Louis, said the Senate was to blame for the problem on the welfare money.

"If you had not cut the $9 million out last year we wouldn't be having this meeting tonight," he told the senators.

Sen. Norman Merrell, D— Monticello, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said the Senate was concerned the emergency program for the water districts would become a major project requiring more legislative spending.

"We have not seen one word of testimony on where this money is going and who is going to administer it," he said.

Russell turned down attempts by the senators to use the money for the Bi-State Transportation System of St. Louis as a bargaining point.

The House gave tentative

Mangled wreck covers track

Two men were killed this morning when this car was driven into the path of a northbound Frisco train in Matthews. Volunteers worked through the night to strengthen a secondary levee near Old Monroe, Mo., as the raging Mississippi River threatened sections of northeastern Missouri.

A drowning was reported this morning in another area north of Old Monroe at Foley. Details were not immediately available.

Volunteers from the Old Monroe area and from the State Training School for Boys at Boonville were working to shore up the threatened secondary levee near the Cuivre River, which was backed up by the Mississippi.

Richard Nieman, area engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers, said the primary levee blew out two days ago, and the secondary levee is the only thing between the river and about 2,700 acres of farmland and residences.

"If the second levee breaks, water will cover Route 79 and isolate Old Monroe," Nieman said.

"We are having a record flood now. We're higher than the 1947 flood which local people remember as the biggest ever," Nieman said. "As of now, we're holding our own. Barring any further rain, we should be all right.'

The National Weather Service said the Mississippi River rose 18 inches during a 24-hour period in St. Louis to a level of 35.0. A spokesman said the river was expected to crest at about 37 feet Saturday in St. Louis. The highest recorded crest for St. Louis is 40.28 on July 22, 1951.

Crash kills two men

MATTHEWS— Two men died at 9 a.m. today when a train slammed into their car at the Frisco Railroad crossing in Matthews.

The identity of one of the men has not been released, pending notification of the next of kin. One of the men was identified as Tony Lee Brewer, 36, who reportedly lives between Canalou and Morehouse. The second man was burned beyond recognition when the car burst into flames, and he has not been identified.

Police said the accident occurred when three Frisco engines pulling a caboose hit the car. The engines, which were traveling about 50 miles an hour, dragged the car one-half mile along the tracks before stopping.

One man was thrown from the wreckage. The other man was trapped in the car and burned.

The bodies were taken to Richards Funeral Home.

Sikeston crime up 26 per cent

Crime in cities the size of Sikeston continued to climb during 1972, while nationally, crime decreased for the first time in 17 years, according to statistics compiled by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

U.S. Attorney General Richard Kleindienst said statistics show that serious crimes in the United States declined by three per cent last year.

Cities with a population of 250,000 or more reported an average decrease of eight per cent. Cities with a population over 100,000 reported an average decrease of seven per cent. Suburban areas surrounding core cities registered an average increase of two per cent. Rural areas went up four per cent.

Crime in Sikeston rose by a whopping 26 per cent, primarily because of large jumps in the number of burglaries and petit larcenies. Serious crimes in other areas, such as assaults, thefts and auto thefts declined.

There were no murders in the city in 1972, although murders increased by four per cent nationally in cities the size of Sikeston.

Fourth man charged

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP)-A fourth man has been charged in connection with the Jan. 17 extortion-murders of a Grandin, Mo. bank president and two members of his family.

Police said Doyle G. Cowin, 24, of Van Buren, was to be arraigned today in Carter County Magistrate Court on charges of first degree armed robbery. Leeland Negaard, county prosecuting attorney, said the charges against Colin name him as an accessory before the fact in that he allegedly knew of the planned extortion attempt against Robert R. Kitterman, the president of the Grandin bank.

Kitterman, 43, his wife Bertha, 38, and their daughter Roberta, 17, were found tied to trees and shot to death after Kitterman had taken $10,080 from his bank.

Cowin is the brother of Lloyd D. Cowin, 20, also of Van Buren, one of three men who have been charged with murder and kidnaping in the case. The two other suspects are Dallas R. Delay, 33, and Jerry W. Rector, 22, also of the Van Buren area.

Delay is being held in the Missouri State Penitentiary at

CANCER MONTH

April, the month of burgeoning new life, is also the month when Americans are bombarded with reminders of a death- dealing enemy: Cancer. Every year the President designates this month as a time for marshaling national resources in a fight against that enemy. The President already has shown his special interest by singling out cancer, along with heart disease, for an increase in federal support for research -- and this is an economy - budget year when he is chopping away at health- education - welfare funds generally.

The April crusade will have two main goals; to raise money to support the research and service activities of the American Cancer Society, and to urge every adult to get a regular medical checkup for cancer. Some two million volunteers will be going door- to - door on this double mission during the month, bearing the slogan: "We Want to Wipe Out Cancer in Your Lifetime." Last year the society raised $80 million; this year it is reaching for $90 million.

Although cancer is a deadly subject, each year the society brings good tidings of victories leading, it is hoped, to ultimate conquest of a disease that is second only to heart disease in the number of lives it takes. This year there is news of techniques for earlier detection of breast cancer. A problem in dealing with breast cancer is that the disease usually is well advanced by the time it is discovered. However, new techniques of mammography and thermography may indicate breast cancer before the tell-tale lumps become palpable. Mammography is a form of X-ray, thermography involves use of a heat- scanning device on which the tumor may show up as a "hot spot." The government's National Cancer Institute has added $4 million to $2 million put up by the cancer society for a demonstration project to determine whether it will be feasible to apply these techniques on a mass basis. The money will be used to support 20 diagnostic centers around the country, each to examine 5,000 women a year.

The county attorney told him that getting the best of a horse trade was not a violation of law, and the saleman wired east for money to get home.

DOMESTIC TRAGEDY IS ADDED

One of the major tragedies of the Vietnam War is what has and is happening ot some of the marriages of the men who were held prisoners for so long.

In some cases, the wives are asking for divorce, in others, the husband is asking for the divorce.

It must be a severe blow to both the man who lived through those prisoner years partly by looking forward to a reunion with his wife and family, and to the wife who spent so many lonely years anticipating an eventual reunion with her husband.

The causes of the divorces are usually about the same— the two have grown away from each other over the long span of years during which they were separted, or one or the other has fallen in love with someone else.

In any case, it is an added tragedy that has resulted from that conflict.

Heart specialist Paul Dudley, M.D. warns: "The chief danger of automobiles is not from accidents, but from the fact that they take men off their feet. In today's mechanized, push- button society, many of us don't push ourselves enough. One physical expert claims that the most prevalent disease in this automated era is physical deterioration. Yet most people can get sufficient exercise safely, without overexertion and at great potential benefit to physical and mental well-being.

American Physical Fitness Research Institute reports that our body is not made for a totally sedentary existence. It wears out most rapidly when it is not used. It has been estimated that a sound physical fitness program combined with good nutrition could prevent as much as eight per cent of the deterioration that occurs before age 75.

Exercise firms and conditions the muscles which make any and all movement possible. When muscles start to sag and droop, you can soon see that you are out of shape.

Systematic exercise is needed for a strong, supple spine. This "lifeline" of the body protects our most vital nervous system and transmits the messages that trigger our reactions. Abused, the spine can be a real source of stress.

Researchers of APFRI have found a definite correlation between physical activity and reduced risk of atherosclerosis. Moderate exercise on a consistent basis is needed to maintain the health of the body's fibrinolytic system, which balances the body's blood clotting mechanism, helping to prevent arteries from getting clogged.

Physicians have also found that the body is able to compensate for clogged blood vessles by developing alternate blood vessel pathways (collateral circulation). Simple brisk walking seems to aid this process and to promote circulation, muscle tone, digestion, bowel movements and even healing.

Walking, jogging and swimming are popular exercise favorites, but consult your doctor before embarking on any program of unaccustomed activity. Follow his suggestions and advised limitations.

A good basic physical fitness program with proper supervision and patient persistence may add years to your life and life to your years. But you must make the choice: body care or medicare?

I've always believed that the freezer compartment in a refrigerator was for short term storage. What has changed this?

There are some models of refrigerators that have only one door. An inner door separates the freezer from the refrigerator compartments. It is difficult to maintain low temperature in such models. The use and care books advise short-term storage which is two or three months.

What happens to operating costs when the freezer temperature is increased?

The lower the temperature the higher will be the operating costs. Reducing door opening, organizing food packages so they can be located quickly and keeping the freezer as full as possible help to moderate cost of operation.

What's the best way to get rid of an old refrigerator?

The Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers has prepared a leaflet that offers some suggestions for preventing accidents with discarded appliances. It comes with the use and care books of new refrigerators. It is important to remove doors on refrigerators and freezers before discarding them. If a refrigerator is still in good condition, it might be used in a vacation home, or in the recreation room or basement for additional storage. Occasionally, a church or society agency would appreciate a gift of a well cared for appliance.

What's the best way to identify real leather from synthetic leathers?

Read the label to find out what you're buying. Garments that look like leather but are not should be labeled "imitation leather," "not leather," or "synthetic leather made of ---- (whatever material is used.) Real leather need not be identified.

REALISTIC ANALYSIS OF ISSUES IS URGED BEFORE TAX REFORM

Congress should undertake an objective analysis of tax reform issues, according to the National Association of Manufacturers.

The study, the NAM said, should provide realistic estimaties of the revenue to be gained through the tax reform, cover the economic effects of any major income redistributions, and consider the extent to which reform should focus on corporate versus individual income taxes.

In a statement filed with Senator William Proxmire, chairman of the Joint Committee, the NAM said that recent politically oriented charges try to make it appear that the "corporate sector is getting off virtually scott free" as far as federal income taxes are concerned.

Actually, according to Melvin C. Holm, chairman of NAM's Taxation Committee, Treasury Department figures prove that over the last four years corporate tax burdens have been increased while income taxes for individuals have been significantly reduced, particuarly for lower-income groups.

"The country has been bombarded with demands for massive tax changes with scant, if any, attention to the actual tax policy record to date," Mr. Holm said. "The best answers will not be found in the heat of a presidential campaign but through painstaking analysis."

Mr. Holm said the aim of tax reform should be to provide a better climate for productive enterprise of all income groups. "We believe that both tax equity and economic progress can best be serviced when tax rates are moderate at all points," he said. "In our view, a program of across- the - board tax reductions can only be made effective through much better control of government spending. We doubt very much that the leeway for any significant rate reduction could be provided by plugging loopholes, equity considerations aside."

Mr. Holm said the NAM believes that tax policy should encourage job- creating private sector investment. "How else are we going to continue to pay wage scales so far above everyone else in the industralized world?" he asked the committee.

"I think," said one, "that it went into the cup."

BROKEN BITS

Recently a high- strung, ambitious young person was heard to remark, "I won't waste my time picking up scraps and patching things. The days of cheese-paring are over; junk the old duds and get new, smart ones."

The beautiful and admired cathedral window in all Europe was made of broken bits of colored glass artistically fitted together by a great artist, who was not above utilizing "scraps.

The old countries have much that is sensible to teach about conserving. America wastes enough good food to feed several European and Asiatic lands. We think it smart to say, "We have bigger things to do than scrape the flour barrel." Wasteful America may be "smart," but frugal Holland, Sweden, Finland folds are sensible and grateful.

A man was cutting a fallen tree into firewood, piling up what he thought was waste brush for burning. Some Portuguese children came running. "May we have what you are going to burn up?" they asked. They tied in bundles the smallest twigs, and carried them away to their mother's kitchens.

An American traveler in Europe remarked: "What stupid people these peasants are, cultivating even the fence-corners." But shiploads of Christmas toys come to America every year, made by the "stupid" people.

"It is true," continues the commentator, "we have been 'smarter' than they in the rapid destruction of our forests, and waste of our oil and soil, but it would be 'smarter' if we heeded an old saying: 'Wilful waste brings woeful want.'"

SPACE AND PROGRESS

Numerous scientists, businessmen, and governmental leaders have warned against excessive cutbacks in the nation's space effort. None has uttered this warning with greater sincerity nor with greater authority, based on experience, then Mr. Willard F. Rockwell, Jr., head of a major space and commercial manufacturing concern.

Mr. Rockwell declares, "We must have a continuing high level of space activity, not for the benefit of any one country alone, but for the benefit of the entire world. To do otherwise would be to ignore our responsibilities to our children and the future of mankind." Mr. Rockwell points out that space achievement holds the key to the future by unlocking new resources in the seas, extending the life of valuable forests and the developing of a new science of agricultural control. Cutbacks in the space program not only threaten the nation's technological future but its capabilities to cope with environmental problems, in the opinion of Mr. Rockwell. He also sees exploration of space as the key to international cooperation.

The involvement of foreign countries in National Aeronautics and Space Administration programs, to date, has centered primarily on unmanned research programs. Some 74 nations have participated in NASA efforts. At the moment, one of the programs holding the greatest promise for international participation is the development of a space shuttle vehicle -- a vehicle that will transport men and cargo from Earth to a space station and back.

It is unthinkable that these great efforts and the promise they hold for the future should be terminated and the shades drawn on such unlimited potential for human progress.

While good citizens thrill to the proud and patriotic deportment of the fighting men returning home from communist prison camps, the left- siders are shocked and appalled. It is beyond the understanding of the brainwashed and self- deluding left- leaners that returning prisoners of war could be blessing their God, their country and the military service and commanders who sent them into battle.

When fighting men, one after another in a steady stream, simply and sincerely express their pride, their gratitude and their patriotism, the left- siders are struck dumb but, unfortunately, only for a short time. Although their own reporters on the spot testified to the obvious unrehearsed sincerity of the returning POWs, the "leading" newspapers of the East, the New York Times and the Washington Post, decided that the Pentagon had put words in the mouths of the returning men.

The leader, commander or coach of any winning team effort, in war or peace, could tell the left- siders the real truth, which is that these brave men would not have survived the years of mistreatment by the communists without faith in themselves, their cause, their teammates and their country. In is the same in every war. Those without faith soon die in captivity. The ones who survive in every war or disaster suffer the same conditions as those who fail. The difference is in faith and will, the fundamentals which sustain the patriot.

Be alert and be aware of this left- line. It is to discredit the returning fighting men and their patriotism, to make their sacrifice look trifling or ridiculous and to counteract the sell of honest patriotism welling up in proud citizens all across the nation. You can challenge and defeat this leftist effort through your personal voice and influence, especially in letters to the editor. HLH

SCITUATE, Mass. (AP) — A man who works at night and is free to roam suburbia during the day learns quickly that it's a woman's world.

Driving into any small suburban town at 11 a.m. on a weekday he realizes with a little tick of terror that he's alone and awash in a sea of mothers driving station wagons.

All the men are away in the city or in town, tending to their chores. There are some things more dangerous than a pre-occupied matron in a station wagon, but they are few.

Even if the suburban night workers stays home in the daylight hours, the telephone is there to remind him of all the all-engulfing presence of woman.

It rings. His wife is somewhere in the basement doing laundry or casting spells. He panics, but he has no escape. He answers it.

"Hello," he says.

The worst thing a suburban man can do at 11 a.m. is answer his own telephone. He precipitates a social crisis. He can feel through the receiver the confusion he's caused for the caller, a woman, of course.

"Ah-oo-er ah," says the caller. "Is Mrs. Suburbia there?"

"Yes, but she's in the basement in communication with Satan. Maybe I can help you."

"Ah-ooo-er, ah, No. I'd better speak to Mrs. Suburbia."

"I see. All right. Can I tell her who's calling?"

"Ah-ooo-er,ah, this is Mrs. Eek from Central School. I want to talk to her about Cathy, ah-ooo-er, ah, her daughter."

"Maybe I can help," says Suburbia. "I'm Mr. Suburbia."

"Oh?"

"Cath's father."

"Oh?" There is great surprise, almost pain, in Mrs. Eek's voice.

Suburbia wonders, "Now who did this woman think I was. The milkman? The mailman? Something worse?"

"Oh," says Mrs. Eek again. "Ah-ooo-er, ah, perhaps I'd better call back. Yes. I'll call back."

She hangs up. Her relief in escape is apparent right through the receiver.

The poor woman is conditioned like a machine to expect a woman on a home telephone at 11 a.m. She just cannot cope with a man.

There are other problems. Store clerks, even men, look at Suburbia at 11 a.m. as if he is out of place at best, or casing the joint.

Even waking in the bosom of one's own home is on trial.

It's 10 a.m. for everybody else. The day is in full cry, full of alarms, challenges and joys. But it is dawn for Suburbia.

Nobody cares. Children assault him like banshees.

Strange children, over to play, invade his bedroom without shame.

True, there are great advantages to a night schedule. No traffic, no parking problems, the daylight to enjoy oneself.

But, as with anything else good and fine, one pays a price.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Nixon Muzzle on CIA

WASHINGTON-- Our sources inside the Central Intelligence Agency are alarmed over an apparent move to politicize its intelligence estimates and evaluations.

The craggy new CIA chief, James Schlesinger, is shaking up the Office of National Estimates, which produces the super- secret studies of world developments. Each September, for instance, this office completes a painstaking survey of Soviet capabilities and intentions.

But CIA estimates, unhappily, have often conflicted with President Nixon's own concepts. Schlesinger's shake- up, therefore, has been interpreted within the CIA as an attempt to make the intelligence analyses conform with the President's thinking.

The President's displeasure with the CIA has been no secret inside the agency. In 1971, he issued a detailed "decision memorandum," complaining about inadequate intelligence and calling for changes. He gave his national security adviser, Henry Kissinger, new power to evaluate intelligence and instructed the CIA director, Richard Helms, to make the estimating- analyzing operation more responsive to White House needs.

Reluctant Helms

Some of the reforms the President sought, to be sure, were intended to reduce runaway costs and to increase efficiency. But the cool, competent Helms was reluctant to adopt changes that might make the CIA less professional and more political.

He believed there should be a diversity, not conformity, of intelligence activities. He thought diverse views should be funneled to the White House as a check upon the rival intelligence services. If the President should receive only an intelligence consensus and this should turn out to be wrong, Helms feared, it would be disastrous for the nation.

But the conservatives around Nixon persuaded him that the CIA had a liberal taint and that the Office of National Estimates, in particular, took a dovish view of the Vietnam War.

It's true the CIA warned in 1966- 67 that Communist strength was almost double what the Joint Chiefs estimated. Sure enough the Communists struck with unexpected power during the 1968 Tet holidays.

Bombing Claims

It's true the CIA claimed that the bombing of North Vietnam had not disrupted the flow of supplies down in the infiltration routes into the South. Sure enough, the Communists launched an unexpected, powerful offensive in March 1972.

It's true the CIA warned that the mining of Haiphong harbor and the renewed bombing of the North wouldn't keep the North Vietnamese forces from getting all the supplies they needed. This estimate, too, was subsequently verified.

Of course, the CIA wasn't always right. It badly underestimated the flow of Communist supplies through the Cambodian port of Sihanoukville and, therefore, discounted the need for invading Cambodia.

The CIA also upset the White House by disputing Defense Secretary Melvin Laird's statement to Congress in 1969 that the Soviets had succeeded in installing multiple warheads on the giant SS- 9 missile, each warhead capable of hitting an independent target. The White House wanted Congress to believe Laird and vote for more defense funds.

In the future, however, it appears that the CIA will be less likely to disagree with the White House.

Footnote: A CIA spokesman said that Schlesinger's shake- up is intended to reduce unnecessary costs, remove the deadwood and increase efficiency. In part, this undoubtedly is true.

Washington Whirl

ITT Again-- The sprawling ITT conglomerate, already in hot water with Congress over its dealing in Chile, has a new problem closer to home. ITT promised the Securities and Exchange Commission to tell its prospective mutual funds customers about its legal difficulties. The disclosures were supposed to have gone out in an amended pamphlet, dealing with ITT's Hamilton Fund, on January 19. We sent a representative to ITT's mutual fund office in nearby Virginia to pick up copies. We found it still doesn't warn buyers about the legal problems. At Hamilton's headquarters in Denver, a spokesman said any reneging on the promise to SEC must be "a failure in the field."

Message to Muskie-- The presidents of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler have paid separate, private calls on Sen. Ed Muskie, D- Me., to enlist his support for delaying the 1975 deadline when antipollution devices must be installed on automobiles. Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss, whose law firm represents Chrysler, also spoke to Muskie about his meeting with Chrysler's President John Riccardo. Muskie told us that Strauss asked no favors but merely mentioned the meeting. In any case, the visits from the auto tycoons didn't impress Muskie. As chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Air and Water Pollution, he is preparing to blast the auto manufacturers for not moving faster to meet the antipollution standards.

C of C women to sell trees and bushes

The woman's division of the Chamber of Commerce will sell trees and bushes this weekend as part of its three-year beautification project, it was announced today.

The women will sell 200 flowering apple trees and 400 weigela rosea from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Chamber of Commerce parking lot driveway at 301 N. New Madrid St.

The flowering crab apple trees will be sold for $1 a tree and the weigela for 50 cents a bush. The crab apples are two to three feet tall; the weigela, 12 to 18 inches.

Chamber officials say if response to the sale is good they will order more plants.

Last year, the chamber sold dogwood and redbud trees.

$1,219.63 collected for Dystrophy

Contributions totaling $1,219.63 were received from the Sikeston house- to- house march against Muscular Dystrophy, according to campaign treasurer Bill Waltrip.

Seventy- five per cent of the funds collected will be forwarded to the National Muscular Dystrophy Association office for research into the mysterious crippling disease. The remaining funds will remain with the local chapter and is used to provide patient services and clinical care.

"To all who contributed," Waltrip said, "I wish to extend a most hearty thanks, with special word of gratitude to the volunteer marchers who so willingly marched for those who may never walk again."

Waltrip added, "The people of the community can be proud of their part in this year's crusade. The cooperation of city officials and the news media, both radio and newspaper, contributed greatly to the success of this campaign."

Ann hopes public will mature about pornography

Dear Ann Landers: Often I find myself applauding your wisdom and common sense. But now and then you display a smug, arbitrary attitude that makes me furious. I refer to your insistence that people who stash pornography, enjoy stag films, peep shows, etc., are "adolescent" or "sick." Granted, Miss Landers, they may be either or both, but labeling them does not solve the problem. Their needs must be considered and dealt with.

How wonderful it would be if everyone in this world were sexually fulfilled---married to (or going with) a person whose sexual appetite matched theirs perfectly. There would be no need to consider alternatives. Surely you know this is not the case. Sometimes a race horse gets teamed with a plow horse. Or no sex partner is available. Some people are inhibited and shy, forced to turn to vicarious methods of gratification such as looking at pictures, or live performances. If an off-beat turn-on helps a person, what's wrong with it? Does it hurt anybody?

You realize, or course, that many women enjoy porno too. Remember that fantastic sale of the first magazine in America to feature a centerfold of a nude male? And now we have a movie (which I shall not name, but the star was featured on the cover in a popular news magazine), and it promises to break box-office records.

So please, Ann, don't be such a bluenose. Be realistic. And compassionate. I hate to see you line up with the segment of society which favors censorship and decides what adults should see, read and look at. ---Richfield, Minn.

Dear Rich: I agree with several points in your letter. But you are adding apples and oranges and getting pomegranates.

I am and always have been against censorshop. I believe the present popularity of hard-core pornography is a reaction to our phony, mid-Victorian years of repression. But we are getting nutty in the opposite direction.

It is my hope that in time, a public, free to choose, will become so surfeited with trash that they will no longer spend their time or money on it. That, to me, would be the hallmark of maturity.

Dear Ann Landers: The big problems in life we can handle just fine. It's the little ones that drive us bananas. Listen to this.

My parents moved from a three- bedroom apartment to a smaller one. Now there is no guest room-- but a very large sun porch. Mom bought a beautiful red velour couch for the sun porch and she is very proud of it.

Pa's brother comes to town twice a month. Uncle Freddie is a bachelor and lives 100 miles from here. He used to sleep in the spare room, but now we don't have one. Pa says he can sleep on the couch. Mom says, "Over my dead body!" the couch costs $650 and Uncle Freddie weighs about 290 pounds. Mom is afraid he'll sag the springs. Pa says his brother's feelings mean more to him than the dat gum couch.

Please rush a solution. The war is on. --- In The Middle

Dear In: Your folks should buy a sturdy rollaway cot and keep it on hand for Uncle Freddie. A 290- pounder may well sag the springs of a velour couch. This could create a real fight between your mom and pa. Give them this column and let's hope they pass the peace pipe already..

A no-nosense aplroach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage---What To Expect," will perpare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope.

BULB IS BLAMED

PORT JEFFERSON, N.Y. (AP) — The ordinary light bulb is one of the biggest wasters of electricity, according to Dr. Alexander Kusko, testifying here against a Long Island Lighting Co. power project. He said that fluorescent bulbs use far less electricity than incandescent bulbs.

NEW MADRID — Revocation of probation for James Robert Gadis, 17, of Matthews was ordered Tuesday in Circuit Court by Judge William L. Ragland.

Gadis had been granted supervised probation after he received a two- year sentence on Jan. 3 on felonious stealing charge when he pleaded guilty to stealing a 1973 pickup truck valued at $4,400 which belonged to John Buck of Canalou.

He has been charged in Stoddard County with two counts of tampering with a motor vehicle and jail escape.

Delbert Potts pleaded guilty to two charges of forgery. He was given consecutive two-year sentences on the two charges, then granted probation with supervision. Potts had cashed two fraudulent checks at Kewanee Mercantile on Sept. 29, 1972.

Betty L. Simmons was awarded $7,500 for persoanl injury damages in a guit against Sandra Colson which allegedly resulted from an automobile accident on Sept. 6, 1972.

Margaret Patricia Ferrell of Morehouse received a divorce, custody of three children, $15 weekly per child for support and $300 attorney's fee in her suit against Glen Gay Ferrell.

Virginia Lee Borders Walker of Parma was granted a divorce, custody of one child and $75 monthly child support against Leonard Junior Walker.

Jewel Tallie of New Madrid was divorced from Lon B. Tallie.

Judge Ragland entered an order March 21 that a life sentence imposed against Mrs. Jean Ann Pavy on Oct. 1, 1971 for second degree murder remain in force after overruling her motion to vacate sentence.

A hearing on the motion was held on March 16 when Mrs. Pavy testified that her sentence was too harsh for her participation in the shotgun slaying of her husband, Odell Pavy, on July 23, 1971 at their rural Gideon home.

Man hurt in wreck

GIDEON — A Gideon man received minor injuries Tuesday in a traffic accident at the junction of Highway 153 and Route B seven miles northeast of town.

The accident occurred when Bobby Lee Cowart, 28, driving a pickup truck north at a high rate of speed, came to the intersection, failed to stop, knocked down a utility pole and a steel sign post.

He was taken to Doctor's Hospital in Poplar Bluff with a knee injury.

Cowart was cited for driving while intoxicated.

HATES TO BAT NINTH

LEVITTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — New York Met shortstop Bud Harrelson told 700 Levittown Youth Council members at their annual sports day that he would hate "to bat ninth and that's where I'd bat if the National League used the designated hitter rule."

This season in the American League teams will use the new "designated hitter" rule, permitting a batter to hit for the pitcher. The pitcher will be allowed to remain in the game.

Charleston project delayed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — More than $1 billion will be needed in Missouri in the next seven years for municipal sewage treatment construction, the state Clean Water Commission announced Tuesday.

The commission also announced that 12 construction projects in Missouri cities and sewer districts totaling about $3 million will be delayed until federal guidelines for grants are completed.

Since January, the commission has received requests for $54 million to fund clean water projects throughout the state.

Those requests do not include money needed by cities along the Missouri and Mississippi rivers to meet federal standards in secondary treatment plants by the Dec. 31, 1975 deadline, the commission said.

The projects to be delayed are located in:

Rock Port, Lee's Summit, Mercer, Palmyra, Salem, Cole Camp, Charleston, Lawson, Ellisville, and the Lake Adelle and Glaize Creek sewer districts in Jefferson County.

The commission also announced grant increases for seven projects located in:

Huntsville, Hawk Point, Fulton, Kansas City, Warsaw, Blue Springs, and the metropolitan St. Louis sewer district.

Two arrested

Police today announced the arrest of Robert Henry Wallace, 134 Fourth St. for public intoxication and Joe H. Fox, P.O. Box 923, for driving while intoxicated.

That's Progress?

Sheep flocks total 15.8 million head today, compared with 19 million 15 years ago or 44.9 million just after the Civil War. Man-made cloth has blanketed much of the wool industry.

The agreement is subject to approval of a definitive agreement by the directors of both companies.

New factory ready

Construction of the Arnold Sales Company Factory building in Caruthersville, was completed recently and production at Pemiscot County's newest industry will begin immediately on a limited basis, according to owner George Arnold.

One machine, a six bar slitter, has already been moved into the building and work with the machine will begin soon. Arnold said it will be about March before full- scale production will start.

The factory is 10,000 square- feet and was built by Mitchell Engineering Company of Mississippi. Perry Going of Caruthersville acted as the contractor. The approximate cost to construct the building was $45,000.

"As soon as the training period is over, we will have 27 new employees at the plant," Arnold commented.

The factory will manufacture corrugated boxes. It will be entering contracts with national firms.

Work first began to locate the factory in August of 1972. It was financed by the Small Business Administration, First Missouri Development Corporation, Pemiscot County Industrial Development Commission, and private stockholders.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

I will instruct you and teach you the way you should go. (Psalm 32:8, RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father God, make us receptive to Your will for us. Instead of our gazing on the confusion and our limitations, help us to lift our eyes to see the glorious possibilities You see for us. In Jesus' name we ask it. Amen.

Clothes doused by firemen

Firemen were called at 8:10 p.m. Tuesday at 128 Petty St. to extinguish a fire in a car owned by J. D. Richardson.

Firemen said a basket of clothes in the back of the car started smoldering for no apparent reason. The clothes had just been taken out of the dryer.

Open university planned

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Five task forces are being formed to develop plans for a statewide open university to bring higher education to one million more Missourians, Jack L. Cross, executive director of the state Commission on Higher Education, said today.

Jack Bradford of the commission staff drafted the model and it was discussed earlier this month in St. Louis by about 100 educators.

Operating similar to a correspondence course, the system would enable working persons and housewives to finish courses they dropped when they went to work or got married, and to take other courses they never would have had time for.

A survey by the commission indicated there are more than 1 million Missourians over 25 years old who have only a high school education or who have completed some college courses without getting a degree.

The state now has 186,000 student in its private and public universities. There now are 117 extension centers in the state.

The task forces will study and make recommendations on the open university's general concept, financing, curriculum and degree requirements.

Cross said the open university would not duplicate the University of Missouri extension system or correspondence courses of other colleges and universities, but would coordinate them into a larger program.

Under preliminary plans, lectures and test would be given at local learning centers which would be on campuses, at libraries, grade schools and in offices.

Cross said the "university without walls" would have to construct no more than $5 million worth of new buildings. It would have a computer and a statewide television network.

Bradford said the cost of a credit hour could be as low as $25 compared with more than $60 an hour in most colleges.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A two-year environmental study has been launched by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration of the 105,000-square mile area of coastal waters off Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas. Four ships, a plane, a hydrographic field party and land support units will carry out the program. Similar studies are planned for other east coast areas later. Dubbed SCOPE, the project is designed to help coastal zone planners predict the results of natural and man-made activities.

Burlison introduces bill to boost tax check-off

WASHINGTON — Rep. Bill D. Burlison, Missouri's 10 District congressman, and 40 other House members have introduced legislation requiring Internal Revenue Service to place the $1 tax check-off for the presidential election campaign fund on the front page of the individual taxpayer's tax return form.

The check-off, possible for the first time this year, was authorized by congress in 1971. It enables taxpayers to allocate $1 to a special fund established to finance the 1976 presidential election campaign.

"When Congress authorized the check-off," explained Burlison, "we intended it to be placed on the front of each tax return. But last year we discovered that the IRS had prepared a separate form, known as Form 4875, which is buried in the packet of tax material mailed to taxpayers in January.

"Those people who must obtain their tax forms from banks and post offices are having difficulty locating Form 4875. We made a spot check of eigh locations in Washington where tax material is provided, for example, and we found that the check-off form was not available.

"Because the check-off has been all but ignored by IRS, it's understandable that only about four per cent of the taxpayers filing returns this year have taken advantage of this new campaign financing procedure. Unless the rate of response improves, the new law will fail to achieve its purpose.

Ten to 15 per cent of all taxpayers will have to use the check-off every year up to 1976 in order to provide each major party with the $20 to $22 million it is authorized to receive under the 1971 Act.

"It's obvious that the Nixon administration would like to see the check-off fail," Burlison went on to say. "In fact, when he signed the check-off bill into law, President Nixon said he hoped Congress would see the 'defects' in the new system and repeal the law.

"Despite the opposition of the Nixon Administration, we cannot allow the check-off to fail. It represents one of the most important political reforms of the last 50 years and it could very well democratize the entire campaign spending process. The check - off means that, for the first time, political parties can raise the campaign funds they need from average citizens rather than relying on special interests as they have done in the past.

"Our bill represents a small but significant way of helping to insure that the check-off will be successful."

NEW REEF PAYS OFF

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (AP) — The new Marco Island artificial fishing reef is paying off with big fish. Jerry Batjes of Hudsonville, Mich., fishing with charter boat captain Ray Page, boated a 24-pound redfish. The 38-inch red was boated two miles off shore in 20 feet of water. Florida west coast redfish usually weigh five pounds o less.

The reef consists of about 24,000 old automobile and truck tires. They were compacted and bundled and dropped there in March, 1972 by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

What's the law?

The case of the la-de-da spouse

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Harold never hid behind his wife's skirts. On the contrary, he much preferred to wear them. In fact, he wore everything she owned. Dresses, coats and underwear. He even wore her makeup. When he began to wear them out of the house, however, that was the payoff as far as his wife was concerned. She packed together her belongings, except for what Harold was wearing, and left him. And several days later she started an action to end their marriage on the grounds of extreme cruelty.

"I never had anything to wear," she complained in court, "because Harold was always wearing my things. But even worse, just picture my consternation at having all my friends see La— De— Da Harold sashaying down the street. "That's not extreme cruelty," was Harold's answer. "That's transvestism. While I love my wife, I just couldn't resist the urge to dress up like a female. What's needed is her understanding and not a divorce."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you free Harold's wife from her La— De— Da spouse?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a male transvestite is dominated by a desire to be identified with the female sex. His dress, manner, occupational interests and associations are all designed to enhance his feelings of being a woman. His characteristics, concluded the judge, negates the primary purpose of marriage. To require a woman to cohabit with such a person is unreasonable or improper so as to constitute cruelty.

MAILBOX

March 12, 1973

Mr. Charles Blanton
Sikeston, Missouri

Dear Sir:

One of the most grave and sobering issues to face modern civilization lies on our doorstep now. We must decide now what we are going to do with the avalanche of unwanted human beings that is being thrust upon us. This grave issue cannot be cast aside or swept under the rug. It is a question that we must take issue with now. Every one of us must take a side, and voice his convictions loud and clear.

We must not, as an intricate part of the greatest Nation on earth stand in the shadow of this demoralizing, ruthless issue, and allow the so called professionals make our decisions.

Not only are we faced with the uncivilized decision, that is if we follow the High Court's decision, to legalize the murder of our unwanted children, but if the good people who have hearts of flesh instead of stone, set on their hands and allow this law to stand as passed by an un-Godly Court God Himself will judge us as a Nation of killers of innocent little babies.

The wise man who is acquainted with the long line of court decisions handed down by the highest court in the land can readily see that it has been a very long line of decisions that have taken us further and further from the fundamental and basic truths of God's Word.

With one stroke of a tender pen of compassion, they say, that it is inhuman and un-Godly to take another's life; in so doing, they free from this fear, the beastly animal that lurk through our troubled, yet beautiful land, mugging and terrorizing old helpless men, raping and killing old women and little girls.

Stories of dastardly crimes scream at us every day from the front pages of our Nation's newspapers and other media. This Nation sets behind locked doors and barred windows, in chains of fear and desperation, wondering if it will be the next victim of some brute beast, rapist, killer.

All the while, in most cases, from the Highest Court to the lowest, they clamor, "let's be kind to those environmental helpless victims."

Yet the same pen has turned from a tender pen of compassion, into a brutish weapon of murder. They, many times, pass over lightly the hideous acts of those human animals when they slash the throat of some innocent young girl; rapes her as she dies in the pool of her own blood.

The same Court has now in a fantastically infamous decision, at least by some said, in effect, it is not wrong morally or otherwise, to take a sharp instrument and probe the womb and slit the throat of a helpless, unwanted human being.

Now this brings me to the big and very little publicly discussed question. If it is not morally wrong, if it is not against the laws of the greatest Nation on earth to kill and destroy the unwanted helpless human beings who are yet in the womb; what will keep us from, any day now, pass laws to destroy all the week, and helpless who have been borne, those who are old in years, the cripple, and others who are unable any longer to make a productive contribution to society?? I am talking about human beings who are unable to protect themselves. Are we drifting toward a philosophy, in this land, that leaves us with no sense of human and moral obligation toward human beings who are unwanted, weak, and unable to protect themselves?

I am terribly afraid that if the good people of this land allows, with no massive protest, this law to stand as is, not only will we be seeking new ways and means to dispose of our waste and unwanted material, we will be seeking ways to dispose of the worn out, helpless, unwanted human flow that flows from the legalized murder houses throughout this God forsaken land.

I struggle with the question of any good doctor pledged to the preservation of human life, possibly, in the name of humanity, in any room of healing, take money to kill and destroy a human being. And yet, in the same room of healing, spend many hours of precious time and hundreds of dollars trying to save a human life. It would all depend here if that human being was wanted or unwanted.

These things I do not understand. Since when have we become gods? I believe that life and death belong to God, and none other. Could it be that the American people have gone so far away from God that they are allowing nine old codgers who, in most cases, have no sense of right or wrong, to become their gods?

You will note, that even if I could I have not taken time to be neither eloquent nor diplomatic; I am in no mood for fancy words.

Mercy and justice for all men, are things that I am dedicated to, whether weak or strong, whether rich or poor, whether giants or whether they are unborn babies, they must have an equal opportunity to develop into their fullest capabilities.

Every well, sane, human being has a Godly responsibility to the weak. Ye that are strong, care for the weak, and so fulfill the law of Christ. If this Nation ignores this law, she will bring the gates of hell down upon her own head.

Sincerely,
R. C. Martin

Tigers add to 'elderly image

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Tigers, a team often labeled "too old to win," reinforced their elderly image Tuesday by acquiring veteran pitcher Jim Perry, while the San Francisco Giants' pennant hopes received a boost by the outstanding performances turned in by veterans Juan Marichal and Willie McCovey in exhibition baseball Tuesday.

Minnesota sent Perry, 36, to the Tigers in exchange for minor league pitcher Dan Fife, who was 14-7 with Montgomery of the Southern League last year.

Perry, the Cy Young Award winner in 1970 when he compiled a 24-12 record, is the winningest active pitcher in the American League with a career mark of 180-139. The 6-foot-4 left-hander, who'll be entering his 15th major league season, was 13-16 with the third-place Twins last year with a 3.34 earned run average. He earns an estimated $68,000 a year.

Meanwhile, Marichal, the National League's winningest active pitcher with a 227-125 career record, took a giant step on the road to recovery from a season of injuries by hurling seven innings of hitless ball as San Francisco stopped the San Diego Padres on one hit 6-0.

And McCovey, the Giants' slugging first baseman who missed much of last season with a broken right forearm, belted a two-run home run and added an RBI single to provide the offensive power.

In other exhibition games, Cleveland beat Oakland 6-0, Cincinnati edged Los Angeles 5-4, Montreal topped Houston 6-4, St. Louis nipped Pittsburgh 2-1, Boston trimmed the New York Mets 3-2, the Chicago White Sox beat Atlanta 7-3, Kansas City defeated the New York Yankees 4-2, Milwaukee downed California 8-6, Minnesota beat Baltimore 6-3 and Detroit edged Philadelphia 8-7.

After Marichal's seven inninngs, Don Carrithers and Elias Sosa completed the shutout. Sosa gave up San Diego's only hit, a bloop single by Jerry Morales in the ninth inning.

Dick Tidrow limited Oakland to three hits over six innings and relievers Ray Lamb and Rich Hinton finished the shutout, Cleveland's sixth consecutive exhibition triumph.

Larry Stahl scored the winning run for Cincinnati in the eighth inning on Dave Concepcion's single. Montreal's Mike Jorgensen and Ron Fairly collected three hits apiece against Houston.

Ted Simmons two-run double with two out in the first inning provided the support for St. Louis starter Jim Bibby, who went eight innings and held Pittsburgh to two hits.

Bob Montgomery homered and John Curtis pitched six solid innings for Boston. Ed Herrmann rapped out three hits and Buddy Bradford hit a three-run homer for the White Sox.

Kansas City's Steve Busby held the Yankees to three hits in six innings in the Royals' victory. Joe Lahoud hit a tworun homer as Milwaukee rallied for four runs in the seventh inning to defeat California.

Doubles by Rod Carew and Danny Thompson marked a five-run, eighth-inning rally for Minnesota. Tony Taylor, a former Phillie, had four singles for the Tigers, and the fourth one drove in the winning run in the eighth inning.

Sports Corner

It's finally over ... The 1972-73 high school basketball season is history now, except for the naming of a few boys to all-American teams and the announcement of those who get athletic scholarships.

This past season has been one of the most exciting ever for this seven year veteran of the sports world, who viewed 107 games this season, including the state tournaments.

The majority of the area coaches worked well with the Daily Standard sports staff ... and we certainly appreciated the time and effort put forth to assist us. We hope that the spring sports coaches in baseball, track, golf and tennis are just as cooperative.

If any of our readers have anything to contribute to our pages, we hope they'll call us or come by the office. We always like to run pictures of large catches of of fish or just anything relative to sports because the summer season is sometimes slow on local items and as many of you know, we strive to put the accent on local sports.

Senath- Hornersville high school is looking for another team to fill out their annual tournament of Jan. 2-5. Any school wishing to enter this big eight team affair should contact coach Jim Isbell.

Three Rivers Community College placed Ron Johnson on the National Junior College all-tournament team after the Raiders finished fifth in the national two weeks ago.

Johnson was a late season starter and added spark to TRCC's drive toward the national event.

Coach Gene Bess has announced the signing of Charleston's Alvin Pierce and Fred Rowe of Scott Central to grant in aids at TRCC and noted that big John Sims, all-stater at Richland high two seasons ago, will enter TRCC next season.

Denver Miller, coach of the Kirkwood high school Pioneers basketball team, is the state's winningest cage coach. Miller has posted a 708-336 mark in 38 years at Kirkwood, according to a survey made by Jim Vieth of KLIK radio in Jefferson City. Flat River Central's Bill Bradley is the only Southeast Missouri coach listed on the roster of coaches who have won 200 or better games and are still active. Bradley has a 15 year coaching record of 259-135 at four schools.

Three players that the Three Rivers Raiders had to content with this season have been named to the National Junior College Athletic Association all-American basketball team.

Perry Hines, a 6-foot- 3 guard from Lake Land JC of Matoon, Ill., whom the Raiders faced in the TRCC Classic of Champions tournament, was selected to the first team. Raiders take MCC

POPLAR BLUFF-- Three Rivers Community College scored an unearned run in the bottom of the eighth inning Tuesday afternoon to edge Meramec community College of St. Louis 1- 0. It gave TRCC its first MJAC conference victory of the season against no losses. The Raiders are 3-1 overall.

Former Southland Rebel high school star Randy Smith hooked up with Joe Murphy of Merimac and came within one batter of hurling a no- hitter. The only hit of the game for Merimac came from the eighth batter in the lineup in the top of the eighth inning.

Mike Murphy pitched for Baldwin which was the American Legion national champion last year and he was named the player of the year in the American Legion.

Smith struckout 11 batters and walked only three enroute to the victory.

Neither team could solve the others pitcher's offerings until Bob Redman singled to lead off the bottom of the eighth and he was promptly sacrificed to second. Bobby McCulloch walked and Smith beat out an infield roller, with Redman advancing to third. With the squeeze play on, Redman broke for home and Murphy made a wild pitch allowing the winning run to cross the plate.

The Raiders could manage only four hits themselves and they were divided up among four different players.

It takes a keen eye and the coordination of a professional needle threader to snag suckers. The Missouri snagging season for paddlefish and non-game fish opened March 15 and will run until May 15. Daily take and possession limit on paddlefish is two. Sucker daily limit is 25 pounds plus one fish. Snagging is not legal for game fish, but is highly popular for paddlefish and suckers, primarily.

AAU-NCAA studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. James G. O'Hara says he believes the sanctioning power of the nation's amateur sports organizations should be used as a warning device for colleges and athletes.

"The sanction ought to be a service to the school and not a threat," the Michigan Democrat said Tuesday.

O'Hara stated his views while questioning George Bisacca, a Fairfield, Conn., lawyer, who testified before the special House education subcommitte holding hearings on two bills designed to end the controversy between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Bisacca, who earlier had told the subcommittee that the bills being considered might be unconstitutional, conceded there have been abuses of power by the NCAA and the AAU.

"There is a need for a third body to take this issue away from the two opposing forces," he said.

Legislation cosponsored by O'Hara and Rep. John Dellenback, R-Ore., would make it a federal oxfense, punishable by fines up to $10,000, to deny student-athletes the right to engage in intercollegiate sports because of their participation in international competition.

A second bill under consideration, introduced by Rep. Peter Peyser, R-N.Y., would establish a five-man federal commission to promote the interest of amateur athletes engaging in international competition and to encourage athletic competition among nations and between amateur athletes.

Pros look to playoffs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers could have made it simple by winning. Instead the Milwaukee Bucks put the National Basketball Association Western Conference playoffs in a mess.

Los Angeles can clear everything up again tonight—this time by losing.

After trailing by 11 points in the first half and nine with eight minutes to play, the Bucks ruined the playoff schedule by coming back to edge the Lakers 85-84 Tuesday night for their 14th consecutive victory, the best ever NBA season-ending winning streak.

The victory wound up Milwaukee's regular season 60-22 and split the season series with the Lakers at 3-3.

Los Angeles is now 59-22 and a victory in their final game tonight over Golden State would leave he Pacific Division champion Lakers with the same season mark as the Bucks—and force a pre-playoff contest Friday night at Milwaukee to determine the best conference record.

At stake is the conference title, home court playoff advantage and the playoff pairings.

Oscar Robertson scored 25 points and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar 24 for Milwaukee while Jim McMillian got 32 for the Lakers, who compiled their lowest point total of the season.

In other NBA games Tuesday night, the Chicago Bulls defeated the Cleveland Cavaliers 121-105; the Detroit Pistons smashed the Baltimore Bullets 112-98; the Boston Celtics tripped the Atlanta Hawks 117110 and the Houston Rockets stopped the Buffulo Braves 121111.

In the American Basketball Association, the Utah Stars turned back the Denver Rockets 115-109 and the Indiana Pacers turned back the San Diego Conquistadors 110-107.

Chet Walker and Bob Love combined for 24 points in the third period and drove the Bulls past the Cavaliers. Walker, who finished with 30 points, and Love, who scored 23, ended up with nearly 3,500 points between them for the season.

Dave Bing and Bob Lanier combined for 54 points as Detroit beat sluggish Baltimore. With Bing scoring 10 of his 30 points in the third quarter, the Pistons moved into a 84-68 lead going into the final period. Lanier, who had 24 points, helped Detorit forge a 54-50 halftime lead.

Boston ended its regular season domination over Atlanta by beating the Hawks for the fifth time in six games. John Havlicek had 29 points for the winners while Atlanta's Pete Maravich led all scorers with 30.

Houston spent three quarters playing catch-up, but finally took control behind Cliff Meely and went on to blast Buffalo. Meely score nine of his 18 points in the final quarter to help the Rockets pull ahead. Bob McAdoo led the losers with 39 points and 15 rebounds.

Zelmo Beaty, Ron Boone and Willie Wise sparked balanced Utah past Denver. Beaty led the Stars' offense with 24 points, Boone had 23 and Wise, 21. Byron Beck paced Denver with 22 points and became the all-time Rocket scorer with 6,261.

Bob Arnzen scored 24 points to lead Indiana past San Diego as the Pacers swept all 11 games with their California opponents this year.

MacLeod will stay at Okla.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)— University of Oklahoma basketball coach John MacLeod, amid reports that he was about to sign a contract to become head coach of professional basketball's Phoenix Suns, has declared he plans to remain at Oklahoma.

"I plan to remain as basketball coach at the University of Oklahoma and I have not received any definite offer from the Phoenix Suns," MacLeod declared late Tuesday.

An Oklahoma City television station reported earlier Tuesday that MacLeod had been offered a three-year contract at $42,500 a year to coach the Suns of the National Basketball Association. The station said MacLeod had until today to give the Suns his decision.

The report brought a quick denial from the Phoenix Suns' front office and later MacLeod said his discussions with the Suns had been of a "preliminary" nature only.

Meanwhile, The Daily Oklahoman reported that it had learned MacLeod has been recommended for a $5,000 raise from $18,500 to $23,500 by the University of Oklahoma Athletic Council. The council also reportedly voted to increase the pay of MacLeod's two assistants.

In Phoenix, Jerry Colangelo, the club's general manager, was quoted as saying, "I may offer the job to MacLeod, but I haven't yet."

Others reportedly under consideration are Dick Motta, coach of the Chicago Bulls and two college coaches—Minnesota's Bill Musselman and Marquette's Al MaGuire. Indiana's Bob Knight was reported to be the No. 1 choice of the Suns but removed his name from consideration last week.

MacLeod, 34, has a 90-69 record in six years at Oklahoma. He has twice taken the Sooners to the National Invitational Tournament.

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)— Out two months with a broken hand suffered in a spill, jockey Bill Shoemaker is racing again and after his first ride says, "It was like I hadn't been away for very long at all."

Shoemaker, thoroughbred racing's winningest rider, broke his right hand Jan. 26 and returned to action Tuesday at Santa Anita aboard Canterbury Road in the seventh race, finishing second.

Water- pollution took a grim toll of fish in Missouri in 1972. There were 535,780 fish killed in 27 investigated instances where an estimate could be made. Acid water from strip mine areas and municipal sewage were the two major causes of the kills.

COOKING-UP with judy

When freeze- dried coffee first appeared on the market, coffee drinkers everywhere were quick to recognize that its flavor and aroma compared favorably with the just- perked variety. Then along came freeze-dried decaffeinated coffee, so that anyone could enjoy rich- tasting coffee conveniently, at any hour.

It can also be used as an ingredient in desserts — such as this scrumptious coffee pecan torte. Whip this one up in practically no time using frozen pound cake layered with creamy coffee- flavored frosting. It's the perfect dessert when you need something elegant in a hurry.

COFFEE PECAN TORTE

3 tablespoons hot water
2 teaspoons freeze- dried decaffeinated coffee
3/4 cup butter
1 1/2 cups unsifted confectioners sugar
3 egg yolks
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2/3 cup pecans, finely ground*
1 frozen 12- ounce pound cake (8x4— inch size)
1/4 cup pecan halves
*Pecans can be finely ground in electric blender.

Add water to coffee; stir to dissolve. Cream butter. Gradually blend in sugar. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Stir in prepared coffee, vanilla and finely ground pecans; set aside.

Slice frozen cake horizontally into five layers. Spread each layer with about three tablespoons coffee-pecan mixture. Reassemble cake and sptead remaining coffee- pecan mixture on top and sides of cake. Garnish with pecan halves. Chill until ready to serve. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

"Forget dessert"-- your husband suggests as you struggle with the perfect dinner party menu. But that advice just doesn't work. It leaves dinner unfinished, and it's devastating when you discover your most cherished guest loves dessert.

So, for an answer, look to the Italians for that "little something" to round out the meal (but not you or your guests). Italian chefs have an instinctive feeling for flavor and texture combinations and this Coffee Tortoni is perfect with only 67 calories per serving. The frozen fluff, delicately accented with freeze-dried decaffeinated coffee, is a pleasant contrast to the crunchy nut topping.

COFFEE TORTONI

3/4 cup cold water
4 teaspoons freeze- dried decaffeinated coffee
1 envelope low calorie whipped topping mix
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/8 teaspoon almond extract
2 egg whites
1/8 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup chopped nuts (optional)

Combine water, coffee, whipped topping mix, vanilla and almond extract. Beat until mixture will form soft peaks. Beat egg whites with salt until foamy throughout. Add sugar, one tablespoon at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Continue beating until egg white mixture will form soft rounded peaks. Fold into whipped topping mixture. Spoon into paper souffle cups, paper cups in muffin pans, or 4- ounce paper dessert cups. Sprinkle with chopped nuts, if desired. Freeze until firm-- at least four hours. Makes four cups or 12 servings.

COFFEE RESISTS UNIFORMITY

WHIPPANY, N.J. (AP) — Varying coffee-drinking habits around the world dictate variations in automatic vending machines which dispense the drink, according to Earl C. Ramsey, president of Rowe International, which manufactures such machines.

Those made for the Japanese market, for example, have to produce coffee that is two and a half times sweeter than the accepted American standard. For the Swedish market, the coffee machine must turn out a cup twice as strong as ours. Machines made for some South American countries must have coin slots that are easily adjusted for frequent inflationary price changes.

And there are problems right in the United States. Women, more and more of whom are being hired to service machines, don't like to bend over, says Ramsey, so the company has designed its new machines to make it unnecessary to bend over to service them.

Coffee Corner by Cherie

Well, I'm going to do something I haven't done in a long time, but I've had so many people calling wanting to know what are some of my more budget priced dishes in the cookbook, that I'm going to give you a list of them. Also, I've come up with some marvelous recipes since the printing, and I'll give you two or three of those to cut out and paste on the extra recipe pages that are at the end of each chapter.

Here are some meat dishes that go a long way and considering the price of food today are, I believe budget scaled. Try Judy's Spaghetti and Meat Balls (makes almost 8 quarts of sauce, freeze some, and if you'll add 3 cups of bread crumbs to the meatball mixture it will go lots farther and is really just as good); Hungarian Stuffed Peppers (after you've eaten these save the remainder of the sauce which is divine and pour it over a pot roast with some red wine and have another wonderful meal); Hamburger Diane, Chicken Terazzini, Lasagna, Hamburger Casserole, both the Spaghetti and the Mushroom Pot Roast, definitely the Enchilada Casserole which calls for no meat at all just open cans and dump in for a wonderful casserole; Sausage and Rice, Boos' Brunch (which would be equally good for a light dinner with a tossed salad); Taglarani, East Indian Curry (which is made from left over roasts and lots better and more fun than hash); Mock Chow Mein, Ham Loaf (budget only if you have baked a ham and have left overs), Magic Stew, Chicken Simple, and Hungarian Goulash. All of these are extremely tasty dishes and won't be hard on anyone's pocket book!

Now, here is a dish of chicken breasts in wine that is absolutely divine, and if you're entertaining, it is far better on the budget than beef and most of the time more elegant.

David's Chicken

6 whole chicken breasts, bone, split and skin
1 bottle Sauterne
5 chopped green onions, stems too
2 cups fresh mushrooms,
1 stick oleo
2 cans cream of mushroom soup
salt & pepper to taste

Put chicken in pot, add 3/4 bottle of wine and simmer 12 minutes.

Remove and save 1½ cups wine.

Saute onions and mushrooms in butter, add soup and wine and simmer 5 minutes.

Pour over chicken in a casserole and bake uncovered, at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Here's a new vegetable in a marinade instead of beans that tastes even better and will really surprise you. This was given to me by a wonderful cook from Charleston, who had it handed to her from someone else who had it in the family for years.

Copper Penny Carrots

2 lbs. carrots, sliced round, then cook until tender and drain.

Put into a bowl, carrots, 1 onion sliced, and 1 green pepper sliced.

Now mix this marinade and let stand over carrot mixture at least overnight. Serve as a cold vegetable, makes 1 quart.

Marinade

1 can tomato soup
3/4 cup vinegar
1 cup sugar
½ cup Mazola oil
1 tsp. dry mustard
1 tsp Worchestershire sauce
salt and pepper

Another recipe for left over baked ham.

Ham Casserole

Grind up ½ lb. ham, baked
½ lb. sharp Cheddar
1 green pepper
Cook and drain 2 cups noodles
Add: 1 tsp. horse radish
½ tsp. salt
1 can cream of celery soup with ¼ cup milk

Mix together and bake 350 degrees for 40 minutes. Remove lid, sprinkle buttered bread crumbs over top and broil a few minutes until brown.

NEW YORK (AP) — The second pair of programs in the Little Orchestra Society's series of concerts for young people was sold out four months in advance.

The program is "Babar the Elephant," an opera for children by Nicolai Berezowsky. It is based on the Babar children's books by the late Jean de Brunhoff and Laurent de Brunhoff.

The opera version was commissioned by the Little Orchestra Society and first performed in 1953.

See-Mor TV seeks new networks

See-Mor Cable TV is seeking permission from the Federal Communications Commission to establish cable television networks in Oran, Chaffee and Illmo. Those cities recently approved the establishment of cable systems within their limits.

All three cities have approved 15- year contracts with See-Mor, according to David Blanton, attorney for the company. He said See-Mor will pay the cities three per cent of its profits as a franchise fee. The three per cent is in accordance with new government regulations, he said.

Blanton said the government probably would not approve the application until several months after it is submitted, so he didn't know how long it would be before the first installations could be made. He said the company hopes to connect 60 to 65 per cent of the homes in those three cities.
